Sweet Alice, Wall Street
Bad News from Cuba
Beware Parathyroidism
Old-Fashioned Thrift

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

WALL STREET is as sensitive as Sweet Alice in the old song. She said "smile with delight when you see her a smile, and tremble with fear at a frown."

The frown that startles the speculators now is Europe's suggestion that tariffs be wiped out. This land would have reason to tremble with fear if that "down with tariffs!" suggestion were applied to the United States.

We might as well go out of business, wear all over again, wearing homespun and living on our crops. But that won't happen.

• • •

THE suggestion is good for Europe, where 28 national frontiers represent 28 assorted tariffs. If those 28 nations live without tariffs separating them as our 48 states live, it might be good for Europe. That is for Europe to decide. It is none of our business. France would not agree to that plan.

Europe is paying for her foolishness in the war now. We shall pay for it later. No use rushing into trouble ahead of time.

• • •

IT is easy for big-hearted financiers to sign petitions for free trade. They deal in money, and there is no tariff on money.

It is natural also that they should be friendly to "a gigantic European loan to be floated in the United States after our foreign debts are wiped out."

The international financial gentlemen would market that loan, and put in a comfortable "rakeoff" in their pockets. Their view is perhaps a little one-sided.

• • •

MORE important than foolish financial talk about tearing down United States tariffs, which would mean tearing down United States prosperity, is the condition of cotton growers and its effect upon the South.

This country, able to help railroads when they need it, should do something for the cotton growers. If it fails to find a way, cotton growers and the farm bloc combile will do things to worry the administration.

DISTURBING news from Cuba — many houses blown down in Havana and a heavy gale on its way to this country, traveling 130 miles an hour.

The United States weather bureau sends out warnings and special preparations are made in Florida to meet the high wind that is feared.

SCIENCE says, "Keep 20 pounds under what you think is your normal weight and avoid hyperparathyroidism."

Dr. Pflueger discovers a new kind of obesity; says many have it that do not know it. A man weighing 200 pounds that ought to weigh 180 pounds could lengthen his life if he would get rid of 20 pounds.

FAT men, and others not too fat, try this. Once every month, or better twice, eat nothing but fruit for 24 hours.

Begin now with grapes. They are in season and good for you.

A 16-year-old girl should not steal. But if she must steal and wants to keep out of trouble, she should steal a naval oil reserve, then go to Europe.

DR. COOLIDGE of the General Electric Co. has perfected a tube for generating cathode rays, most powerful of all the mysterious rays, the Millikan ray coming next, the X ray third.

This cathode ray, possessing great disintegrating force, may be made most useful in medicine, when thoroughly controlled. Applied to the body of a mouse for the fraction of a second, the cathode ray caused the mouse to fall apart, completely disintegrated, although the flesh was not charred. The same ray might work wonders in cancer treatment if it could be regulated.

THIRTY DEAD IS TOLL OF STORM SWEEPING CUBA

Estimated 1,500 Injured in Hurricane That Does Millions of Damage to Havana

BUSINESS LIFE PARALYZED

Transportation at Standstill; Hundreds of Homes Unroofed by Wind

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 21—The full extent of the hurricane which swept Havana yesterday may not be known for several days, officials stated today as they started to clear away the debris and count the damage done by the terrific wind which swept the island.

Early estimates of casualties were increased and it is now stated that there are between 30 and 40 dead and between 1,500 and 2,000 injured. Transportation still was at a standstill today with street car tracks blocked by uprooted trees.

The city was in utter darkness throughout the night. Perfect order prevails.

The commercial life of the city was paralyzed. Telephone, telegraph, electric light and power lines were down. Every kind of debris blocked the streets. Hundreds of houses were unroofed and the city was virtually without an unbroken window glass. All available police, augmented by two squadrons of troops, patrolled the streets to prevent looting.

Several ships, including the Cuban gunboat Hatuey, were sunk by the storm, which at its peak attained a wind velocity of 130 miles an hour. The fate of the crews of some of the vessels was not yet known this morning.

The oil storage tanks of the West Indies Oil Co., located across Havana bay at Belot, between Casa Blanca and Regla, were set afire during the storm and still were burning today. Several of the tanks were believed to have been entirely destroyed, this loss alone aggregating three million dollars.

The total damage was estimated at $6,000,000.

Province News Meager

News from the provinces is most meager and it is not known how the outlying districts fared in the storm. Communication had not yet been established with the Isle of Pines today. Some apprehension was felt for the inhabitants of the island, as it was believed to be in the path of the storm center.

Three hundred families were given temporary shelter in the emergency hospital and many other institutions

UNIDENTIFIED MAN SLAIN IN CHICAGO'S GANG WAR

Body Is Found Shortly After Reported Signing of Armistice

Chicago, Oct. 21—Reports of the signing of an armistice in Chicago "gangland", after years of intermittent warfare which brought more than 100 deaths, were shattered today before the ink on the papers which heralded the truce was dry.

The body of a well-dressed unidentified man, a bullet wound behind the left ear, was found in a west side alley.

A .45 caliber automatic—the favorite toy of the underworld—had brought his death.

Police said they believed he had been "taken for a ride" and thrown from the automobile in which he had been killed.

MELLON TO EXPLODE TARIFF CUT THEORY

Secretary Begins Preparation of Statement of Views on Manifesto

Washington, Oct. 21—After a conference with President Coolidge today, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon began preparation of a public statement to set forth his views on the manifesto recently issued by American and European financiers urging the abolishment of tariff barriers, particularly in Europe.

Mellon will take particular points to explode the theory that a reduction of the American tariff will contribute to better world conditions. It was pointed out at the treasury that while Mellon does not feel the backers of the manifesto had in mind a campaign to reduce the American tariff, it might be well to inform the public in this country of the effect of tariff reduction.

Mellon and the president discussed the manifesto at great length. Until details of the manifesto were published in the press, Mellon had never heard of it, it was stated at the treasury. Mellon went to Europe on the same ship with J. P. Morgan, and conferred with many financiers abroad who endorsed the proposition.

None of them mentioned the manifesto to Mellon, it was said.

BLAME FRACTURED RAILS

Be Sure to Get That Star Football Pink Saturday

EXTRA! Extra! Extra!

The news cry that was heard last Saturday night again will be heard in Marion this coming Saturday night.

The Star again will issue a football extra late Saturday afternoon.

Last Saturday's football extra proved to be just what Marion football fans wanted. The pink carried a play-by-play account of the Harding High-Ashland game, and a complete play-by-play account of the Ohio State-Columbia game, together with less detailed accounts of the Notre Dame-Penn State and Chicago-Pennsylvania games. In addition to these games final scores on all the big games of the day were in The Star.

This week-end Ohio State plays Iowa in an important Big Ten Conference game. Illinois and Michigan, two of Ohio's opponents later in the season, also tangle. Play-by-play accounts of these two games will appear in Saturday's Star Pink.

The Star Pink is the only paper on Marion streets carrying complete and final scores. Outside newspapers appeared on the streets of Marion last Saturday night after the Star and then with only half the Ohio State-Columbia game and with only incomplete scores of other games.

GRUBER URGES CARE IN BUYING PEDDLED MEAT

Warning Issued in View of Menace Created by Hog Cholera Epidemic

Warning to Marion residents to exercise extreme care in the purchase of meat supplies from peddlers during the next few months, due to the menace created by the hog cholera epidemic now spreading throughout Marion County and virtually all other counties of the state, was issued today in a statement by Dr. J. T. Gruber, chief of the city's Division of Milk and Meat Inspection.

The season for sausage making is near at hand, Dr. Gruber says, and it is at that time that meat peddlers usually begin to canvas the city. Under ordinary conditions there is no occasion for exceptional precautions on the part of the public, but because of the prevalence of hog cholera this year, every possible safeguard should be observed in the purchase of meat, the city inspector states.

"Be sure that the source of the meat supply is safe and reliable," Dr. Gruber warns. "Buy no sausage or other meat from peddlers unless it has the stamp of federal inspectors or comes from reputable meat markets."

The inspector issues this warning because it is impossible, he states, for him and other officials to maintain absolute supervision over all hog sales in their territory. Thorough inspection and control will not be possible, Dr. Gruber says, until Marion is provided with a municipal slaughter house where all hogs intended for marketing are killed. There is possibility that a place of this kind may be established in the course of a few years, local officials indicate.

J. W. JACOBY DELEGATE TO NATIONAL TAX MEETING

Named One of Ohio's Representatives to Philadelphia Conference by Donahey

J. W. Jacoby of Marion, president of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, was appointed by Governor Donahey, Wednesday, as one of Ohio's delegates to the annual conference of the National Tax Association to be held in Philadelphia, the week of Nov. 15. The Ohio delegation is made up of about 30 representative business men and public officials who have made a study of the taxation question, most of them being from Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati.

COOPER FRIEND OF LABOR, FESS DECLARES HERE

United States Senator Lauds Achievements and Ability of G. O. P. Candidate

R. A. TAFT ON PROGRAM

Addresses in Star Auditorium Mark Formal Opening of Local Republican Campaign

Election of Myers Y. Cooper as governor of Ohio for the purpose of establishing the state government on a sound and economical business basis, and the return of Frank B. Willis to the United States Senate and election of James R. Hopley as a congressman from the Eighth Ohio district to support the policies of the Coolidge administration formed the basis of addresses given by United States Senator Simeon D. Fess of Yellow Springs and Robert A. Taft, of Cincinnati, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, at the Republican rally held in the Star Auditorium, Wednesday night.

The speeches, which marked the formal opening of the Republican campaign in Marion County, were heard by an audience of nearly 1,000 persons, including many from towns and villages throughout Marion county and various localities in neighboring counties.

Reviews Government

The address of Senator Fess consisted almost entirely of a discussion of national government, although he concluded with an eloquent tribute to Mr. Cooper, the Republican nominee for governor, basing it upon his knowledge of the man gained through personal acquaintanceship.

"I like a man who has proven his ability to start from the ground and work his way up through a successful career, a man who can be born on the farm and move in humble circles during his earlier years and then step out of that field and rise to the heights of notable achievements," the senator said, his remarks being in reference to the life of Mr. Cooper. "I like a man who comes from the quiet of the country and when he finds himself in a big city is not lost, a man whose good qualities are enhanced rather than damaged by success. In his extensive industrial and business enterprises, Myers Y. Cooper has never had a strike, has never experienced serious difficulties or differences with his men, has never foreclosed a mortgage by expelling tenants from their homes, and through

DYE TELLS REED TO WATCH OHIO CAMPAIGN

Democrat Charges Large Sums Being Gathered To Elect Willis and Cooper

Columbus, Oct. 21—Charging that apparently "efforts are under way to gather together a stupendous sum of money" to bring about the re-election of United States Senator Frank B. Willis and the election of Myers Y. Cooper, gubernatorial candidate, both Republicans, Thomas E. Dye, chairman of the State Democratic Campaign Committee, requested Senator James A. Reed's investigating committee today to "keep in close touch" with the Ohio situation.

Dye stated that reports have been published "in a republican newspaper in Ohio" that the Hamilton County Republican Campaign Committee was raising $90,000 to be used in the campaign in one county that represents less than 10 per cent of the state's total vote.

Urges Close Touch

"I should like to urge your committee," Dye wrote Reed, "to keep a watch on this information and I urge your assistance in gathering evidence during the time the activities are under way; in fact, it would be in the interest of an honest election of a United States senator if representatives of your committees could keep "close touch" with this situation "so as to be prepared to aid in a careful and sweeping investigation immediately after the election."

Expressing the hope that Reed would prepare to come to Ohio "to take up the situation if developments warrant," Dye stated he was offering his information "in no partisen spirit, because we are quite willing that the democratic state funds in Hamilton County or in the state of Ohio be subjected to the fullest and most rigid investigation you committee can install."

Mrs. George O. Thurn Gives Talk on "The Children" at Marion Star Cooking School

Second-Day Crowd Much Larger Than Attendance at Opening; Kitchen Expert Besieged with Questions Regarding Home Problems

A worth-while talk on "The Children" was given by Mrs. George O. Thurn, instructor and domestic science demonstrator in the second of her series of lectures in connection with the Star's free cooking school in session this week in the Star Auditorium.

Yesterday's crowd exceeded Tuesday's by a large number and Mrs. Thurn was besieged with questions regarding the home problems during the question box hour. Yesterday's menu was a delightful offering of well-balanced food and Mrs. Thurn sprinkled her talk with many little homely hints which were jotted down by members of her audience. A table arranged for a buffet dinner was the attractive suggestion for an informal party.

57 Children

Fifty-seven children were entertained in the nursery where Mrs. G. E. Waddell is in charge. The school will close with the session Friday afternoon. Children are the most important investment in the business of homemaking but just how that investment turns out rests largely upon the careful handling by mother and father in the first few years of growth is the belief of Mrs. Thurn. Suggesting the right way to do things was given as the best way of teaching good habits and breaking bad ones. She urged that the children be made to feel that the home is theirs and they should have some part in the living part of the house. She discouraged having a room where children should always have to keep their things and offered such suggestions as having the children's chairs in the livingroom their books in the family library and keeping them there.

"Above all things else let us suggest to children that they are useful, capable little citizens," Mrs. Thurn said. "Suggest their ability to do big

BODY OF YOUNG WOMAN FOUND IN MIAMI RIVER

Head Crushed and Jaw Fractured in Apparent Terrific Struggle

Cincinnati, Oct. 21—County authorities today were baffled in their attempts to identify the body of a young woman, apparently between 22 and 30 years of age, found nearly nude in the Big Miami River near Columbia Park, last night.

The woman's head had been crushed, her jaw was fractured and a dark mark of a knife or dagger hit left a stab wound in her breast, Coroner D. C. Handley stated.

The body had been in the water for about three days, he stated. A pair of brown cotton stockings, one tan oxford and a small under garment constituted the girl's apparel.

A mysterious call to Coroner Handley about 7:30 o'clock last night told of the body lying in a pile of driftwood beneath a railroad bridge. Although the call was presumed to have come from a train passenger or employe who sighted the body from a passing train, no trace of the message was announced by county officials today.

The girl had brown eyes; brown bobbed hair; perfect teeth, but one lower front tooth had been knocked out in her death struggle with the murderer or murderers, officials said.

That the struggle preceding her death had been terrific was obvious from the extent of her injuries. Morgue attendants where the body was being held for a post mortem examination declared that the body was that of an attractive woman.

JURY FINDS BALANESCU GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Reaches Verdict in Case of Youth Charged with Girl's Death

Cleveland, Oct. 21—Ermil "Frenchy" Balanescu, 21-year-old Roumanian student was found guilty of manslaughter here this afternoon in connection with the death of his sweetheart, Dorothy Kirk.

Balanescu's mother fainted in the court-room when the jury, out only about four hours, returned its verdict in Common Pleas Court. Balanescu also seemed greatly affected.

The verdict came as a distinct surprise, the prosecution attorneys having admitted in open court that they had a very weak case and that they hardly expected a conviction.

Former Klansman Bares Secrets of Indiana Politics

Walter F. Bossert, One-Time Vice President of National Organization, Hailed Before Reed's "One-Man" Senatorial Inquiry

WITNESS CREATES SENSATIONS ON STAND

Hoosier Investigation Completely Overshadows Illinois Quiz as Former Cyclops Makes Statements About K. K. K. Domination of Politics

FEDERAL BUILDING, Chicago, Oct. 21—Fresh revelations of the Ku Klux Klan's domination of the state of Indiana and its influence upon national politics were bared today by Walter F. Bossert, former vice president of the National Klan and former grand dragon in Indiana, before the "one-man" senatorial inquiry held here by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, of Missouri.

Hugh Patrick Emmons, former cyclops at South Bend, resumed the stand, as the first witness, long enough to hand Reed a "mass of klan documents." The senator then excused the South Bend man until he had time to study the documents.

Then came Bossert, a broad-shouldered, sturdy looking lawyer from Liberty, Ind.

"Was any effort made to have you take part in the Indiana primary election?" Reed inquired.

"I can't quite answer that because I resigned from the organization in January, 1926."

"Was your resignation demanded by anybody for political purposes?"

"Not directly," the witness said, hesitatingly.

Reed asked the witness to be frank.

"It has been said here that you were forced out because you would not support a certain candidate for the senate," Reed said. "Why not be frank with us?"

"I always stood for principles and not individuals," Bossert replied.

"There was no one in the klan who could force me out, but they could remove me. I wanted to resign in September, 1925, and my resignation was accepted in January."

"Now come on and tell us about it," Reed pleaded.

Bossert then said he had gotten into a number of disputes over his belief that the klan should only support principles and issues but not individuals. He added that D. C. Stephenson, his predecessor as the Indiana grand dragon, had insisted on a policy of supporting famed individuals.

On an official quest for illegal use of campaign funds in the Indiana senatorial race, Reed today sought more light on the hooded organization's secret rule over members of congress, its nationwide campaign to control elections and its supreme aspiration to name its own candidate—Senator James E Watson, Republican, of Indiana—to the presidency of the United States in 1928.

The klan's sweeping domination of politics in Indiana, which provoked a revolt in the ranks of the invisible empire, provided an immediate background.

Emmons Called

Reed recalled Hugh Pat Emmons, former cyclops of the South Bend klavern, to pick up the threat of his remarkable revelations of the klan's political intrigues. A number of other klan leaders were also present under subpoena as were Clyde A. Walb, Republican state chairman of Indiana, and Earl S. Peters, the democratic state chairman.

Because of Emmons' initial story of klan activities, it was reported Reed would summon W. Hiram Evans, imperial wizard of the klan, and William F. Zumbrunn, its general counsel, to explain their alleged "influence" over senatorial elections and the United States senate itself. It was Evans, Emmons previously testified, who declared Zumbrunn "could put over any program" desired in Washington through his influence upon senators.

The Indiana inquiry completely overshadowed the less sensational investigation which Reed earlier conducted into the Illinois senatorial campaign.

CHANNEL PLANE FORCED DOWN WITH 10 ABOARD

London, Oct. 21—A cross-channel plane, believed to be on the Paris-London route, was forced down in the English Channel between 12 and 15 miles off Folkestone today.

Seven of the 10 passengers who were on board the airplane which had so thrilling an adventure in the channel, were Americans. They were Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, of Cincinnati; W. G. Hunter, of Worcester, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. U. L. Bonney and Miss Holly Bonney, of Columbus, Ohio, and P. Kanastoros, of Jeffersonville.

All of the passengers on the plane were landed at Folkestone this afternoon. An official statement issued by the Imperial Airways, Ltd., stated that the airplane was forced down by engine trouble.

EAGLES INDORSE PLAN TO HAVE SINGLE DRIVE

Resolution Adopted Pledging Support to Community Chest Movement

Buckeye Aerie, No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles, of this city, last night adopted a resolution indorsing the launching of a movement to establish a Community Chest in Marion.

The indorsement followed action taken by Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, last Thursday, when that organization adopted a resolution in favor of the launching of a Community Chest movement and the establishment of a Community Chest in Marion to take the place of frequent drives for funds staged for the benefit of various charity and public welfare enterprises.

The subject was first introduced at the Elks' meeting by John Abel, secretary of the Eagles, when a communication was received from the local Red Cross Chapter requesting the Elks to take charge of the annual Roll Call campaign of the Red Cross in one of the wards of the city.

Committee Named

A committee of three, composed of Fred T. Eaton, Thomas Huffman, and C. D. Bender was appointed by the Eagles last night to meet and communicate with committees or representatives from any other lodge or organizations of the city in regard to the establishment of a Community Chest.

The Eagles readily agreed last night to aid in the Roll call, the annual membership campaign of the Red Cross, and Fred T. Eaton was appointed to act as captain of the lodge members who will solicit Red Cross memberships in one of the wards of Marion. The Roll Call is scheduled to begin Armistice Day.

The Eagles will take part in the Armistice Day program of the American Legion, according to plans completed last night at the meeting. They will turn out in a body, headed by the drum corps of the organization.

Plans for the Eagles' Indoor Charity Fair, to be held in the lodge rooms on W. Center st. for five days beginning Monday, were also completed.

Charles N. Thurston Will Complete His Twenty-Fifth Year of Service With Marion's Fire Force Friday

TWENTY-FIVE years of continuous service as a member of the Marion Fire Department, during which he has answered the summons of fire alarms approximately 3,000 times, is the record which will stand to the credit of Charles N. Thurston, Friday.

This veteran fireman, still on duty at station No. 1 on S. Prospect-st. entered the service of the city as a member of the department on Oct. 22, 1901, when Marion had a population of only about 12,000 and the force of paid fire fighters consisted of four men and a chief. That was before the days of motorized fire fighting equipment and the two vehicles which made up the apparatus at the local station, a hose cart and hook and ladder wagon, were horse-drawn. During 15 of his 25 years as a fireman Thurston was driver of the sturdy, dashing steeds which gave service of inestimable value in protecting Marion lives and property against devastation and which provided thrills for the public which probably will never be equalled in these days of modern motorized equipment.

J. A. Knapp Chief

James A. Knapp was chief of the fire department when Thurston went on duty for the first time the night of Oct. 22, 1901. The three other members of the force at the Central Station, which was the only one in the city at the time, were H. D. Uline, Gottlieb Trefz and James Butler. Uline is still in active service, although being off duty now on a six months' leave of absence as the result of having been stricken with paralysis several weeks ago. Uline is captain of Station No. 2 on Mark-st. Gottlieb Trefz died several years ago and James Butler, who has been out of the service about six years, is now living in El Paso, Texas.

During Thurston's 25 years of service, the department has increased from four paid men and a chief, on duty at one station, to 48 firemen, six captains, one ma-

END COMES FOR EUGENE V. DEBS IN SANITARIUM

Complication of Diseases Follows Nervous Breakdown; Burial in Terre Haute

Chicago, Oct. 21—Eugene V. Debs is dead.

The Socialist leader, victim of a nervous breakdown, succumbed to a complication of diseases to a quiet end at a Highland Park sanitarium, Lindlahr Sanitarium, Lindhurst, where he had been a patient for several weeks.

At the bedside when death came were his wife and brother, Theodore Debs, of Terre Haute, Ind.

A complication of causes following a nervous breakdown, according to Dr. H. G. Weaver, attending physician, was the cause of death. The aged leader had been in a state of coma since last Saturday and died without regaining consciousness. He was unable to recognize relatives gathered at the bedside.

Nearly 71 Years Old

Funeral arrangements have not been announced, but it is believed the body will be taken to Terre Haute, Mr. Debs' birthplace, for burial.

Mr. Debs, leader of the Socialist party for 25 years, and four times candidate for president, would have been 71 years old Nov. 5. He was a power, covering every branch of the battle for opportunity and, according to numerous writers, was the best equipped writer on economics. His labor activities caused him to serve several terms as a prisoner.

Friends declare the aged leader's health broke during his latest incarceration, in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta. He was pardoned Christmas, 1921, by President Harding after serving three years of a 10 year sentence.

Eugene Victor Debs was born at Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 5, 1855, a son of Daniel and Marguerite Bettrich Debs. He was educated in the common schools of that city and after trying his hand at various trades, became a locomotive fireman on the Terre Haute & Indianapolis Railway in 1871. He held this position for four years, but abandoned railroading in 1875 to enter the wholesale grocery business with the firm of Hulburn & Co. at Terre Haute.

His first venture into politics came in 1879 when he became city clerk of Terre Haute, a position which he held until 1883. Two years later, he was elected to the Indiana legislature and in the same year, 1885, he was married to Katherine Metzel, who survives him.

Turns to Labor

It was his work as a locomotive fireman, which turned his attention to the laboring classes, and he soon became active in labor organizations. He was grand secretary and treasurer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen from 1880 to 1892 and from 1892 to 1897 was president of the American Railway Union.

He was a member of the Socialist Council of Social Democracy in 1897 and 1898 and two years later, in 1900, he made the first of his four races for the presidency of the United States as the socialist candidate.

Previous to this, he had served the first of his numerous jail sentences by paying his conviction of violating an injunction while he was managing the strike of western railways in 1894. He originally was charged with conspiracy, but was acquitted. Conviction of the injunction charge, brought a six months' sentence.

Sentenced to Prison

In 1904, 1908 and 1920, he was again the socialist candidate for president.

During the war, in 1918, he was convicted of violation of the federal espionage act and was sentenced by Judge David C. Westenhaver and sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. The decision was sustained by the Supreme Court of the United States March 10, 1919, and Debs entered the penitentiary April 13, 1919. He was released Christmas, 1921, by President Harding, but it was this term of imprisonment, his friends maintain, which started the breakdown in his health resulting in his death.

He never fully regained his normal health after leaving the prison and some weeks ago entered the Lindlahr Sanitarium for a complete rest. At that time, however, it was not believed his condition was serious.

"Not Milled To Undersell But Over Satisfy"

Announcing

Victor's second sensational achievement in music . . .

The New Orthophonic

Victor Record

PERFECTED at last—a record that captures everything and misses nothing! A record of golden, natural, mellow tone, and amazing range—a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola itself!

For two years, Victor experimented to produce this record. The entire resources of the Victor organization were enlisted to find a record that would contain all the musical elements which the Orthophonic Victrola is capable of expressing.

The new Orthophonic Record is the result. It is new—entirely new. It is recorded electrically, and is unparalleled in clarity, in tone, and in fidelity to the original. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Reproduces all tones of all instruments

On these new Orthophonic Victor Records, high notes and low notes are now reproduced in their proper proportions. The bass is deep, sonorous. The higher notes brilliant, expressive. Tones that escaped former recording processes are now caught and reproduced with a naturalness that is positively startling. The spoken word has the breath of life. Even "s" sounds are now perfectly intoned.

Microphone recording—Orthophonic—Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone "hears" and records what you would hear were you there.

Unpleasant scratch eliminated—Made from a new, improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Also, these records have longer life.

That elusive "third dimension"—Victor has captured what a great musician calls the "third dimension"—depth! Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music.

Foremost artists in every class—Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence is more than ever justified by the lifelike fidelity of Victor's new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically—An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

Hearing is believing—Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear these new Victor Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer. Go expecting the musical thrill of a lifetime. You will not be disappointed.

ABOR LEADERS IFT VOICE FOR EBT PAYMENT

shington, Oct. 21—Declaring that breaker of promises finds it increasdifficult to make new agreeits," William Green, president of the rican Federation of Labor, has d his voice against advocates of cancellation both in United States abroad.

Writing in the American Federation- Green expressed the belief that cuition of obligations to pay interonal debts is essential to continuity relationships.

The basis for relationships between iduals and groups in organized ty is agreement or contract," en said.

Dependability of promise or contract ecessarily of prime importance for individual in planning his life, as as for organizations in planning ties. Without reasonable certainty the future fulfillment of promises e can be no intelligent direction of lopment."

Reopen Negotiations

Green said that the fundamentals of rnational intercourse have been folwed out by the United States is wing up debt paying agreements n nations abroad. He remarked that ny of the terms of payment ch have been approved prove unreaable, proof of that would constitute son for reopening negotiations.

"The people of United States are not generous," Green said. "We did our part in the war because we believed the ideals it defended, though we d neither part nor parcel in causing "Yet there are those in Europe who e deliberately fostering hate or disle of the United States and who are withholding from their people the facts f terms of payments negotiated with he United States.

Not A Shylock

"It is hardly a prudent or a foresighted course that seeks to inflame the ds of one country against another. he demonstration of the French muicted was a terrible reminder of the s of war but was a very unsporting to argue the justice of debt pay-

Green declared that American labor s not want this nation put in the of Shylock—nor, he added, "do we g see imprudent generosity that to maintain standards of right

Good will, it was pointed out, must based upon principles of equity and ual consideration.

"As a matter of economic statesmanip we believe that the best investof our nation would be the econoc restoration of Europe and good ll in the hearts of its people toward e United States," Green said.

"A step to this end would be a statement of policies and of terms of payent in terms understandable to all."

LARGEST HYDROPLANE IS TESTED IN FRANCE

Most Powerful Air Vessel Ever Made Has 130-Foot Wing Spread

Saint Nazaire, France, Oct. 21—The world's largest, heaviest, most powerful hydroplane, believed to be a forerunner of Trans-Atlantic commercial planes, has just been successfully tested here. The giant plane, of the monoplane type, has a wing spread of 130 feet, weighs twelve and a half tons, can carry twenty passengers and several tons of baggage and is propelled by five 420 horsepower motors.

The motor is installed in the nose of the plane and can be completely dismantled and reassembled during flight. The other four motors are distributed on the wings which are twenty-five feet thick with passage ways permitting mechanics free access to the motors for their work and supervision.

Has Three "Stories"

The fuselage is divided into three stories. Two pilots and a navigator occupy the top platform. The middle compartment is reserved for the mechanics, with access to all five motors. Wireless instruments with a broadcasting range of 1,500 miles are also installed there, as well as the control of a special firefighting apparatus by which a special liquid can be sprayed automatically upon all important parts of the plane where fire is likely to break out.

Fuel tanks are installed in the wings, as far away from the fuselage as possible, reducing the danger of explosion or fire.

The plane is the result of five years of experimentation by the Penhoet works. On a recent test flight the plane carried five tons of ballast, rose gracefully and easily from the water and carried out a thirty minute flight in inclement weather.

OKLAHOMA BOY, 101, VISITS BEST GIRL, 104

Williams, Okla., Oct. 21—Gustavius H. Namon of this city is 101 years old—but not too old to retain an interest in his girl friends.

In fact, Mr. Namon is now on the way to Kentucky for a visit with his "best girl", who is 104. He sees and hears well, and claims the honor of being the second oldest Mason in the United States.

"Word hard and don't worry" is his answer to those who would live long.

"I've never seen a moving picture," he said. "It's a shame to pay for entertainment when there are so many good shows out on the street." And as a group of young girls passed by, dressed in ultra-modern fashion, the centenarian waved a languid hand.

"Just look," he said.

ILLINOIS PARK TO SAVE HOMES OF BUILDERS

144-Acre Tract wth Prehistoric Earth Works Will Be Preserved

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 21.—All possible speed will be used in beautifying the 144 acres comprising the Cahokia Mound Park in Southern Illinois and in completing the second state bond issue road to this park. Contracts for work on this park have been let and the ground will be broken up and seeded.

The Mounds will not be distributed. The Great Cahokia Mound, or "Monks Mound," is easily the largest prehistorical artificial earth work in the United States and is to the "Mound Builders" what the Great Pyramids were to the Pharoahs of Egypt.

Dimensions of Mound

The dimensions of Monks Mound are: base, north and south, 990 feet; east and west 721 feet; height 93 feet. It covers 16 acres and is estimated to contain 84,000,000 cubic feet of earth. It has been figured that it would take 2,400 builders working 10 hours every day for two years to complete this mound.

The Mound won its name because in 1804 the order of Trappist Monks built a mission there. The name Cahokia comes from the tribe of Indians La Salle met in 1681. In addition to this mound there are 45 smaller ones scattered about.

The Cahokia mounds, scientists say, are identical with structures which the Spaniards found the Aztecs using in Mexico City for religious ceremonies in the early part of the sixteenth century.

Age Not Known

Just when the mounds were built has never been determined. It is believed, however, their construction antedated the arrival of the white man by several centuries.

It has never been agreed upon by archaeologists as to who built the mounds. Some believe they were constructed by Aztecs who wandered [illegible] culture than that possessed by the Indians found when Columbus discovered America.

Appropriation was made by the Illinois legislature [illegible] meetings might be preserved.

Daily Proverb—"He who has a trade may travel through the world."

The Buffalo Evening News suggests that marines be sent to Chicago. Now, what can the News possibly have against the marines?

Musical whistles for locomotives have been suggested, but it strikes us that the crying need is for some contrivance capable of playing a dirge.

A chair of pacificism has been established by a German university. We don't have to bother about developing pacificists over here, the parlor pinks, the I. W. W., the Bolsheviki and the Council of Churches look after that.

There's no occasion for the Chicago police to expose robust chests over the fact that they have discovered a second place where Gangster Hymie Weiss might have been killed had he reached it. Almost any point on Chicago's streets would fill that bill.

There's another nice trait possessed by Marie. She has the tact to realize that we have had mighty little experience over here in greeting queens, and so starts the ball rolling herself, much after the style of the hostess who saves possible embarrassment to guests by setting the pace with the flatware.

"Uncle Henry" Ford loves to talk, apparently, about the need of more constructive and sustaining matters and things, but, just the same, he keeps right on manufacturing engines of destruction and manifestly has entirely forgotten that promised mechanical cow.

As a free-born, liberty-loving citizen of democratic America we want the authorities of New York City to understand that they need never send their welcoming tender down to Quarantine to take us off as their guest of honor unless they have that bright red velvet carpet along.

Talking about the meanest man, an Omaha florist has been arrested charged with stealing from the tomb of a woman flowers sold by him to her sons for floral offerings at her funeral.

A handwriting expert has testified that the same hand which wrote one of Aimee McPherson's sermons known to have been written by her also wrote the grocery order at that love nest at Carmel by the Sea. The more we learn of the case, the surer becomes our conviction that Aimee wasn't altogether discreet.

Over 16,000 civil service employes have been dropped from the federal pay rolls since the 4th of March, 1923. Occasionally one comes upon sneers at Mr. Coolidge's economy program, but we wish our state executives were more inclined to emulate it. We could well stand the letting-out of several thousand pap-suckers right here in the state of Ohio. They never would be missed, save in campaign times and at elections.

No Cause for Worry About Gas.

The announcement of the federal oil conservation board's estimate, that the known oil reserves in this country are sufficient to last but six years, and that we must look elsewhere for further supplies unless new fields are discovered and developed, has been given wide publicity, and for some reason there has been a rather general inclination to forget the qualifying clause and assume that our fuel oil supply would be exhausted six years hence.

However, a string will have to be attached to that assumption. It might be better to say a hawser.

In the first place, such estimates as have been made are of little value, are practically worthless, because they apply only to existing fields and so little of the earth's surface has been prospected for oil.

Again, announcement comes from Berlin that three great gasolene interests two of them American and the other German—will distribute a benzine fuel made from what is known as "brown coal."

In addition to this, President W. A. Parish, of the American Petroleum institute, has announced: "There is a firm conviction in the minds of many in the petroleum industry that liquid products from these sources"—coal, shale and lignite—"will be furnished in almost unlimited quantities."

It has been demonstrated by experiment that oil can be commercially distilled from the practically inexhaustible shale deposits in the Rocky mountain regions, although when thus produced by the method used in the experimentation it was at greater cost than through the process of tapping the ground with wells.

The fact that the board reported against federal legislation or interference in the oil industry may be taken as the best indication that there is no immediate danger of the exhaustion of our gas supply, for were it the feeling of the board that such danger existed, its recommendation for the most stringent measures looking to conservation would have been unmistakable in its earnestness.

As the gas situation stands today, it will be perfectly safe for the motorist to trade in the old car for what he can get and pay the difference for a model of 1927. Or is it 1928, this late in the year?

Aids to Crime.

A. M. Cathcart, professor of criminal law at Stanford university for the past two decades, says that sentimentality and politics are strong aids to crime, and there can be no question of the merit of his contention. If there ever had been, it would be dissipated by the strength of the case he makes against these allies of crime. As a third aid, he names a maudlin sense of sympathy, and these three factors he indicts as chiefly responsible for the flood of crime which has swept and is still sweeping the country.

The presentation of Mr. Cathcart's arraignment of crime is so short and concise that we could not hope to improve upon it, hence we give it in full. He says:

"Those who would blame the 'crime wave' on the World war and its backwash of moral devastation are wrong. Rather, blame can be laid at the door of sentiment epitomized by the movies, league baseball and other entertainment in the prisons.

"What happens when a murderer is accused? Intricate problems are submitted to unintelligent juries and these laymen, often densely ignorant, are called upon to analyze matters that a law school graduate has found difficult to answer.

"All of the presumptions of law are in favor of the accused.

"After a murderer commits his crime, the first presumption is that he will not be captured. If he is taken, there is the likelihood of escape, or freedom on bail.

"Then there is an almost interminable wait until all parties conveniently announce 'ready.' Anywhere from a few hours to a few weeks are consumed in selecting a jury.

"The indictment is read and the attorneys are permitted to talk forever, but the judge must not say a word.

"Then there is a strong probability that the jury will not understand the instructions, or through sentiment will return a verdict of not guilty.

"If found guilty, there will be a motion for a new trial or an appeal. The convicted man knows that if these fail there may be a warm-hearted governor; or petitions from the four corners of the state to the parole board.

"If the state's charge against the criminal successfully runs the gauntlet and the accused finally goes to prison, he will be entertained with baseball, the radio, modern movies and in a short time his good behavior will return him to the bosom of his friends."

Can this in any way be refuted? Is it even stating the situation so strongly as it might be put? Have we not seen case after case take just such a course as here set out? Have there not been hundreds upon hundreds and thousands upon thousands of such a courses of procedure as here stated throughout the length and breadth of the land?

And is he not right in his final thrust, which we have reserved for the last, that politics nine times out of ten is behind the advantages the criminal enjoys, the clemency he receives? Mr. Cathcart does not hold that there is any political bargaining and sale, but even a course as coarse as that is not inconceivable, but he does hold that it is through a long chain of political influence that pressure is brought to bear to lighten the load and make soft the way of the offender against the law, and all who have followed the course of the cases of criminals, if not all criminals, at least those in our great centers of population, will have to concede it. Some are made to endure the full penalty of the law, but they are the rare exceptions. If the condemned man is given a prison sentence of any considerable length, the chances are that between parole and pardon boards, time off for good behavior and executive clemency, he will not serve thirty per cent. of it. No better illustration of this can be offered than the cases of the degenerates, Leopold and Loeb. Sentenced for life for the fiendish murder of a child, it is figured that they will be subject to parole within ten years from the time of their commitment.

We have often thought that nothing better for the country could be brought about than the abolition, if for but a limited number of years, of our parole and pardon boards.

Now Jim Ferguson is being charged with having sought bribes in road-letting contracts. If those Texans aren't careful "Ma" may feel called to vindicate James again.

There's always the streak of silver, and in this connection it may be pointed out that Dr. Copeland's statement that kissing leads to ills refers to the kissing of babies.

If it's really so that all Queen Marie's skirts reach within ten inches of the ground, she's going to be a marked woman as long as she remains over here.

Of course, if that nephew of the late Nat. Goodwin wants to marry for the eighth time it is his affair and not ours, but it doesn't look like the square thing to us for him to make commonplace his deceased relative's most marked characteristic.

Vagrant Verse.

OUR LANGUAGE GROWS.

Some one was asked the question
"To whom does praise belong
For making women young as fun
And beautiful as young?"
Then came the ready answer
"The cosmetologists,
The freshatricians most of all,
And marcelologists."
We listened very carefully
Then came the repartee.
"Does not soul culture take the lead
And true gentility?"
"Not by a long shot, in these days
Beauty's but skin deep.
The cosmetologists are strong,
For, millions they can reap
That handsome is—that handsome does'
Was outworn long ago.
The truth is, reductionos
Now lead the beauty show."
Still those who boast the crimsoned lips
May have a soul as white
As any in the world—why not?
And beauty makes for might,
A desert is a dreary place
Till flowers bean to bloom'
Here's to the bon beautcians

FALL HOUSE-CLEANING TIME.

Tuberculosis Wanes as Scourge.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

"Captain of the Men of Death."

This is the term Bunyan applied to tuberculosis. No better name could be found to describe this terrible scourge. Statisticians say that one eight of all the deaths among humans are caused by it.

We have marched forward in our war against this captain. But in the United States and Canada, in spite of our progress, about one-tenth of the deaths are due to tuberculosis.

Domestic animals fall victim to it. Chickens and other fowls, pigs, but particularly the cattle which supply us with meat and milk, are commonly affected.

Fortunately for the human family, cooking destroys the germ and germ products of tuberculosis. Official oversight makes it improbable that meat from infected animals will reach the home. But should it be sold by some mischance, its preparation for the table does away with the danger of infecting the family.

But when we consider milk we are dealing with another question. Infected milk is responsible for many cases of tuberculosis in children. It has been estimated by competent students of the problem that ten per cent. of the deaths from this disease are due to what we call "bovine tuberculosis"—that is, from tuberculosis transmitted through the milk of the cow.

When this form of the disease attacks children, the bones and joints are more likely to be involved than the lungs. Sad deformities and loss of future earning power are the results of this affliction.

When you visit a hospital given over to bone and joint diseases you are in an institution where the majority of the patients are paying the penalty of consuming milk from tubercular cows. These little folks are the innocent victims of a preventable accident.

No duty imposed on a parent is more imperative than the obligation to supply pure milk. Without it the danger of tuberculosis is very, very great.

The public is awakening to the importance of giving the disabled child the proper sort of treatment. Dotting the country are institutions dedicated to the care of little folks who are in the active or quiet stages of this dread disease.

It isn't difficult to control the symptoms of tuberculosis, provided it is recognized early and particularly if it is possible to regulate the diet and daily life of the patient. Institutional care of a sick child, in most instances certainly, is superior to the average care in a private home.

There can be no doubt that the crippled and deformed child is better off in a special hospital, unless the home is sufficiently well-to-do to provide the nursing care and necessary apparatus. The well-endowed hospitals and homes for children of this type afford better chances for restoration to normal, or at least, to usefulness.

We should be proud to think the public has turned its thoughts to the underprivileged child. Various luncheon clubs are doing wonderful things in this matter. Special hospitals for children with bone and joint troubles are found everywhere. I can think of no other investment with greater promise of valuable return. Money spent for this purpose will be returned a hundred fold.

Splints and straps and cruches are a blessing, because they help to overcome many physical disabilities. But well directed treatment may restore the child to such an extent as to overcome all visible sign of the deformity. The parents of a crippled child should not fail to consult the specialist in this line.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

S. L. Q. What should be done for a patient suffering from high blood pressure when the heart and kidneys have no bearing on the trouble?

2. Is high blood pressure in itself a disease or is it caused by other complications?

3. What should a woman of fifty-five, five feet five inches, weigh?

4. Would it be safe for one who has been stout from childhood and who is not past middle age to try to reduce?

A. Careful diet and general care is likely to bring down the blood pressure in this case. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2—Both.

3—She should weigh about 150 pounds.

4—Yes, provided she goes about it wisely—reducing the diet in regard to excessive sweets and starches and taking regular outdoor exercises. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and repeat your question. — Copyright, 1926.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Football is probably the world's most valuable sport—because more than any other game it teaches teamwork. When the Duke of Wellington said the battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton he was not just making a speech. Football fields train men for life. The more deeply we realize that truth is an important part of a whole system, and the more we get the significance of teamwork the better citizens we shall be.

Somebody says the safety razor has a lot to do with the way some boys and girls behave today. In the gay nineties the old-fashioned razor strop settled many an argument as to whether Minnie or Jim were going to come in at 10:30 or stay out until 11. Perhaps Everett Hill, past president of International Rotary, was right when he said that too many woodsheds had been converted into garages.

Things we can barely imagine today will be the realities of the next generation. We think radio wonderful. Soon radio messages—even those containing a thousand words—will be sent through the ether in the form of pictures.

Take almost any branch of modern science and invention, and experts will tell you that it is little more than in the beginning of its development. The old biograph was amazing, but it was a poor affair in comparison with the motion picture of today. Nothing is ever finished. Nothing is ever as good as it can be made. That is one of the glories of life. Life without adventure, without change, would be life in a swamp.

America is up to date, but America can still take lessons. Over in France the death rate from tuberculosis among children has been cut from forty-four per cent to two-tenths of one per cent. in twenty-three years. Children over three years old are separated from tubercular parents and placed in a healthful environment. Dr. Rist, chief physician at the Laennec hospital in Paris, has something to tell the world.

It is not a little thing to brighten one hour, one day for one person. It is not a little thing even to think one kindly thought. Thoughts are creative. It is not a little thing even to think one kindly thought. Thoughts are creative. It is not a little thing to realize that what one does and thinks may have a bearing on the lives of many, many others. Do you know these lines of George Eliot.

"O may I join the choir invisible
Of those immortal dead who live again
In minds made better by their presence, live
In pulses stirred to generosity,
In deeds of daring rectitude, in scorn
For miserable aims that end with self;
In thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars,
And with their mild persistence urge man's search
To vaster issues."

Q. Has there ever been a successful five or seven cylinder gas engine built? I. C.

A. The Society of Automobile Engineers says that all radical or rotary engines as commonly used in aeroplanes have an odd number of cylinders around a single crank. The firing order skips alternate cylinders and will have occurred in all the cylinders in two complete revolutions of the crank or cylinder, depending on whether the engine is a fixed or rotary radical engine. Engines of this type having an even number of cylinders, such as ten or fourteen, are composed of two banks of five and seven cylinders respectively. Radical and rotary engines are characterized by having the cylinders disposed at equal angular intervals around a complete circle.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 21—Riverside drive next to Broadway and Fifth avenue, is Manhattan's best known thoroughfare. Beginning at Seventy-Second street, it opens a commanding vista of the rippling Hudson and sweeps northward beyond Inspiration point with its commanding view of the Palisades, colored Palisades.

Its wide, ribbon like roadways unwind with majestic like grace. There is a touch to the "Drive" — like that of the Champs Elysees or Michigan boulevard. Its towering apartments are wind-swept and sunny and, built on a bluff, reveal the myriad river craft at its doorstep.

There are million-dollar yachts, fast sail boats, canoes, Albany side-wheelers and long gray battleships. Along the river runs parks is Riverside park with cool grassy plots where lovers stroll and children romp, all by watchful nurses.

The "Drive" houses many illustrious names. Near the entrance is the mansion of Charles Schwab with the symbolic fountain puddler statues on the lawn. The brick residence of Amelia Bingham, the actress, is also dotted with rather grotesque statues in marble.

Farther north the massive apartment building which is the New York home of W. R. Hearst. The fine home of Bishop Potter has been torn down. Many other notables live there and there are also marble residences built by cigaret kings and the like.

A short distance from Grant's famous tomb is the little fenced-off grave plot whose monument bears the inscription, "To an American Child." Then there is the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument and the heroic bronze of Jeanne d'Arc.

The "Drive" is the only aristocratic thoroughfare in town not touched by the jarring note of trade. It has preserved its aloofness from the thundering herd doggedly and determinedly. It is not, strictly speaking, the most aristocratic street, but it is certainly the most beautiful.

* * *

Edgar street is the shortest street in town. Broadway is the longest. Twenty-Third street is the windiest. Bridge street is the most deserted. And Nassau street is the narrowest.

There are many claimants to the doubtful honor of introducing that over-worked bit of slang "Thanks for the buggy ride." It really goes back to our father's time, but was revived on Broadway by Walter Catlett in "Sally" when it opened at the New Amsterdam theater in January, 1921. His version was "Thanks for the peanuts and buggy ride," and it was thus shortened. He was also the first to introduce "Don't be stupid!" which about a year ago became "Don't be dull." And again he revived "Hot dog!"—his version being "Hoodiggedy dog."

* * *

The birth of Broadway slang is usually usually traced to actors and for the very good reason that it is golden grist to their mill and they devote much time originating it. To introduce a few slang phrases that take on often means increased salaries. Comedians have lifted themselves to fame by a slang line.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS.

It just seems to be some people's luck to get blamed for being good in their business. Well, you know how it is. If a guy is going to sell any insurance, for instance, why, he's got to kinda stick around and ask people if they don't want some more insurance. The crowds ain't going to walk all the way upstairs to his office and knock on the door to be let buy a little insurance, no matter how good it is. And then they poke lots of fun at the insurance agents for peddling their stuff. I like insurance agents myself, because they do more good than a lot of fellows that just sets around looking dignified.

And it's the same way with landladies of boarding-houses. I know a lot of guys that would have starved in their youth if it hadn't a been for landladies of boarding-houses. But these women is always getting blamed for not giving away a lot of grub for nothing. And they do tell some stories about them that ain't so bad.

One landlady I heard about served awful small breakfasts, which was brung in on plates, all ready to eat. One of her boarders looked powerful glum the first morning he was at her house, and next morning she thought she'd cheer him up by being kind nice to him, so she says:

"Well, Mr. Brock, how did you find the food this morning?"

And this here sour guy says:

"Why, you see, I et here yesterday morning, so I just brought along this flash-light today, and the stuff wasn't so hard to find as you might think."—Copyright, 1926.

Who's Who and Why.

DR. GERTRUDE BAUEMER.

One of Germany's most noted educators and social reformers is Dr. Gertrude Bauemer, permanent secretary of the division of education and schools of the German ministry of interior.

Queen Marie, of Roumania, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given today by the New York chamber of commerce.

MARIE FATIGUED BY RECEPTION IN HER HONOR

Party Leaves for Philadelphia To Attend Sesqui-Centennial Exposition

New York, Oct. 21 — Somewhat fatigued by the reception and dance given her at the Ritz Carlton Hotel last night, Queen Marie of Roumania began a second day in New York today with a visit to the public library. Following luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce, she was to leave with her daughter, Princess Ileana, and her son, Prince Nicholas, at 3 o'clock this afternoon on a special train for Philadelphia, where the royal visitors will attend the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition.

The queen is in danger of being worn out by the strenuous social program outlined for her and may be forced to cancel some of the engagements made for her this week. Her physicians have warned her that she "must take things easy" as her vitality has been lowered by her many public speeches and social functions. She contracted a slight cold on the voyage to America.

Brilliant Reception

Society notables, government officials and members of the Roumanian legation formed the list of guests at the reception tendered Queen Marie at the Ritz Carlton. The reception, given by William Nelson Cromwell, president of the Society of the Friends of Roumania, was one of most brilliant functions in New York's history.

With 800 guests jamming the reception rooms, and police holding back large crowds outside the hotel, the royal party arrived at 10.30 o'clock. Women especially prominent, packed together like a subway crowd, elbowed each other in their eagerness to see the queen.

Flashlights exploded as the queen entered the hotel. She smiled at the crowd which applauded her wildly. Women in brilliant evening gowns seemed to the aisle as the queen walked to a throne in the ball-room to the accompaniment of mild handclaps.

Creates Sensations

The klan's activities, meanwhile, held the center of the stage. When first on the witness stand, Emmons created a series of sensations by declaring, on the authority of Imperial Wizard Evans, that:

First—The goal of the klan is to completely dominate American elections.

Second—The klan will seek to place Senator "Jim" Watson in the White House at the 1928 election.

Third—The klan seated Senator Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat, of Texas, a klansman, by enlisting the aid of Republican senators through the influence of Senator Watson.

Fourth — William Zumbrunn, the klan's general counsel, can "put over any program" in Washington.

On his own knowledge, Emmons further declared:

Fifth—Imperial Wizard Evans ordered the Indiana klan to "go down the line" in behalf of Senator Watson.

Roberta Risks It

© MARGARET CAMERON LEWIS

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

SCOTT and Nixon recognized that each seemed to be telling the truth, both were suspicious. Nixon, aware of Roberta's father had deliberately changed the director's meeting to prevent his meeting her on her arrival believed not only that Scott would feign ignorance of her whereabouts even if he knew it, but also that he was capable of picking up the elder daughter as he had the younger.

Moreover, guiltily conscious that he had permitted business to supercede love at a critical moment, he suspected that Roberta had revenged herself for his neglect by setting out upon the expedition of succor against which he had warned her. In this case, Scott would inevitably connect him with the attempt, which brought him back to business considerations again, and to consequences not to be contemplated. Giddy from trying to maintain his equilibrium amid these complicated, interlacing circles of thought, he realized that he must guard his tongue.

Scott, equally in the dark as to what had become of Roberta, doubted that a person capable of such filial apostasy as hers would keep faith with anyone. But he was fully cognizant of her powers of attraction and cajolery, as well as of Nixon's long courtship, and he was by no means certain that this move was not part of a shrewd plan to get into communication with Celia.

Therefore they eyed each other warily, and five hundred yards away in an air line, the object of their discussion, watching through the glass, whispered to Peggy, "Oh, I wish we had something to help us hear them, too!"

"If she was going to marry you," Scott went on after a pause, "why did she land at Quebec? Why didn't she come straight in at the front door?"

Naturally, considering the terms upon which Roberta had agreed to this marriage, Nixon knew quite well why she had chosen to arrive by the back door; but his promised participation in her project was the last thing he wished Scott to suspect, so he temporized.

"Perhaps she wanted to see Quebec. I believe she'd never been there. Or possibly some one she knew was coming that way. Anyhow, she cabled me to meet that train—and I didn't." The other's eyes gleamed at the evasion, but he made no comment and Nixon went on, frowning. "What I don't understand is this talk about a client in Washington and sailing today. Why, she couldn't have had any such plan! She was to marry me Monday!"

"Well, that just shows you," Scott shrugged. "Probably she had more than one string to her bow. It's like her. You'd better be thankful that she threw you down before you married her, instead of afterward."

"I dare say she thinks I threw her down," Nixon mentioned, morosely.

"Maybe she does. But I'd say, knowing her, that it's more likely she never intended to marry you at all."

"I swear she did! She promised—and she's no liar! I thought something might have happened to her—some accident—but none of the hospitals know anything about her."

"Good Lord! Have you been hunting through them, too?"

"I've done everything I could think of—except advertise."

"Well, for God's sake don't do that!"

"I'm going to find her." The young man's tone was dogged.

"All right, find her. Marry her, if you want to, and more fool you! But you see to it that my name—and she still bears my name—doesn't get into print in this business. Understand?" Nixon nodded, flushing as he recognized his master's voice, and Scott turned suddenly suave. "Sorry I can't invite you in, Cliff, but Celia's in pretty bad shape. She's gone to pieces nervously and we're keeping her very quiet. She isn't allowed to see anyone. Let me know if you find Roberta, will you? I'll do the same by you."

"Will you?" Nixon regarded him searchingly and Scott laughed.

"Sure I will! You'll wish I hadn't, if you marry her, but that's your funeral. If you're hunting for trouble, that's the way to find it. All I want is to make sure that she lets me and mine alone."

Nixon immediately departed, and Scott stood for a long time on the terrace, deep in thought. The affair was baffling, like Roberta herself; therefore irritating. On the one hand, not knowing—unless the detective had lied—that she was followed, she had fully outlined her plans to the unidentified man at the Waldorf and had carried them out to the extent of ordering her luggage sent to the Pennsylvania and buying a ticket for Washington. Perhaps she really had taken that train, her small figure hidden by the crowd at either end from the eyes of the watchers. This solution seemed to stretch the arm of coincidence abnormally, though not beyond the limit of possibility.

On the other hand, she had landed at Quebec, arrived in New York heavily veiled, disappeared under the very nose of the detective, and might be now, as Clif evidently suspected—or perhaps knew?—somewhere in the vicinity of Birchwood, awaiting an opportunity to strike at what should have been her altars and her fires. And various imperative business appointments, notably a conference with Brazenose, demanded his presence inNew York early Monday morning.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

FROWNING heavily, Scott went in to resume his attack upon Celia, whose forces had been visibly diminished by his repeated assurance that Roberta had come and gone, making no attempt either to see or to communicate with her. He had given his word that no letter had been confiscated.

Consquently, convinced with the emotional certainty of seventeen that nobody loved her, harangued by her father, wept at and exhorted by her mother, Celia was sustained now only by a sullen unwillingness to confess herself defeated, and even that was wearing thin. A considerable amount of water had gone under the bridges during the months of what she called her persecution, and despite the sensitiveness that Roberta knew and feared—partly, in fact, because of it—Scott's tactics had evoked an underlying obstinacy akin to his own. Dreading his hectoring mastery even more than his wrath, she had developed in self-protection a moody, if somewhat colorless, perversity. At this moment, however, sympathy and an appeal to her more tender emoti ns would have broken down her last defense and reduced her to permanent submission. But that was not the way of either parent.

Therefore, doubly nettled by his interview with Nixon and the emphasized uncertainties of the situation, Scott summoned the rebel to the living room and demanded:

"Are you going to come to your senses before I go?"

Celia was silent.

"Answer when I speak to you! Will you apologize and promise to do as you're told?"

"I don't—I—no I won't". She clung to her ebbing determination, but he saw that she wavered and characteristically offered her a bribe.

"Do it before I go and you can come home next week. Theaters, dances, plenty of friends—as long as you behave yourself."

"Will—will you let me go to college?" she faltered, reviving an old and forbidden ambition. Scott disapproved of advanced education for females, as Roberta could testify. This had been a part of her quarrel, too.

"I will not. I can't trust you out of my sight. But you can do some studying at home and have all the amusement that's good for you. Well?"

"No!" She achieved a pale defiance, though under his glare it speedily degenerated into sulkiness. "You're trying to buy me. You have no right to treat me this way."

"Haven't I! What I ought to do is to take you over my knee and spank you, instead of offering you everything a normal girl could want. But you're not normal, and I'll keep you right here until you are—or somewhere else, if necessary, as I told you the other day." She shrank at that and he pursued his advantage. "You can end it any time you like. The sooner the better for all of us. It's up to you. Say the word now and I'll arrange to have this house closed next week. Think it over."

Drooping and disheartened, Celia stood beside the big library table, fingering a parcel of technical books that Scott had left at Birchwood during the summer and now needed in New York. One of the servants had wrapped them for him.

She might as well give up. Until that morning she had hoped for some word or sign from her sister, but evidently her father was right. Roberta had sailed without seeing her; Pierre had forgotten her. Deserted, helpless in the hands of a ruthless dictator, what was the use? In the total devastation of hope and faith and ideals, what could the minor humiliation of apology and surrender matter? Never, never could she be happy again, but at least she need not be a prisoner. She was beaten.

Preoccupied with her attempt to find suitable phrases of submission, she pulled the parcel of books nearer, and her attention was caught by a penciled line of hieroglyphics. Celia's teacher said that had she been a man, she would have been a mathematical genius, and she puzzled over this problem for a moment. "The unknown quantity plus is greater than, plus, equals is greater than." It looked mathematical—but wasn't. The unknown quantity, plus is greater than, plus, equal—sheer nonsense. Wearily she pushed the books away and looked up, prepared to humble herself and give her parole. But after all she was Scott's own daughter, and his first rasping words called forth every impulse of antagonism and obstinacy with which his blood had endued her.

"Well? Ready to apologize?"

She gave him a glance from the corner of her eye, saw his bristling, overbearing attitude, and quite unexpectedly to herself replied: "No."

"You're not?" He came close, flushed lowering, and she cringed a little, thinking for a moment that he was going to strike her. "What do you expect to gain by this?"

"Nothing. I won't apologize, that's all."

Perceiving that no physical violence threatened, she faced him with a dogged defiance very different from Roberta's fire in a similar situation. But he recognized for the second time that in his offspring he met flesh of his flesh, bone of his bone, and something of his own stubborn spirit.

"Go to your room," he snapped. "Stay there until I've gone. I don't want to see you again."

Celia went.

Shortly thereafter, the couple on the hillside saw Cody carry out Scott's bag and his own, and stow them, with the parcel of books, in the waiting car. A few minutes later G. A. was driven away, only his wife appearing to wave adieux from the terrace, from which they inferred that Celia was still holding her own and rejoiced greatly.

"Now we can get down to business. This leaves the gardener the only man on the place, and the coast's as clear as it ever will be," Piggy announced blithely, never dreaming that Mr. Clifford Nixon, convinced that Roberta must be somewhere in the neighborhood, had taken up his temporary abode at the Jaffrey Inn and was already making carefully veiled inquiries in the pursuance of his quest.

Hot Breads for breakfast in 10 minutes!

SINCE I have learned to make muffins, Johnny Cakes and other things the day before and reheat them quickly in the morning, we have hot breads all the time. And no one realizes that they are not baked fresh every morning.

I wet them (just a "dash" under the cold water faucet), heat them thoroughly in a covered pan, removing the cover a minute before serving to be sure they are dry.

DELICIOUS PASTRY, CAKE AND FRIED FOODS, TOO

Crisco is by no means limited to making hot breads. I find that I can always depend on Crisco for flaky pie crusts, delicious cakes, dainty desserts—and for all frying.

I used to think that because hot breads require so little shortening they could be made with any odds and ends of fat I happened to have in the house. But one day I made some muffins with Crisco and they were certainly the best I ever ate. Light, tender, with a wonderful flavor and appetizing smell. They were so much better than any I had made before that now I use Crisco for every hot bread I make, and I do get the most gratifying compliments on all my hot breads. They really could not be any better if made with the best, most expensive butter.

Johnny Cake

A real New England recipe. If Crisco is used, this Johnny Cake will be light, tender and delicious.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

MADGE'S DENIAL

"PHILIP VERITZEN!" I gasped as my father made his astounding assertion that both my emotions and my intellect had been dangerously intrigued by the famous theatrical producer whose research work I was doing. "Why! you do not even know him, do you?"

"No my dearest, but I know him by reputation, and I know that his is just the type to appeal to a brilliant woman who has become a bit bored with the limited and futile life which her own husband has offered her for years."

I gave a distinct start of amazement. He must be talking about me, and yet I did not recognize myself in this description.

"Yes, I mean you," my father said, and the moonlight showed me a quiet smile upon his face. "For you are a brilliant woman, my Margaret, and all the years of your married life you have stifled your brain at our expense of domesticity. You have been a model wife, a supermother, but have starved your own individuality, until you were in danger of becoming a nonentity, a paper patterns of a woman."

"You talk like Lillian," I said with a smile.

Madge Resents Interference

"I wish I had Mrs. Underwood's fluency," he replied earnestly. "Perhaps I could make you understand what I mean by all this rodomontade of words I have been uttering to you. But she never would say this to you first, because she believes so firmly in the policy of noninterference, and secondly because he has an equally fixed belief that your interest in Philip Veritzen is the only cure for Richard's philandering and his idea of you as a comfortable—old shoe—I believe is the way she phrases it."

So he and Lillian had been discussing my problem! For a second or two I was intensely annoyed, although I controlled by expression of it, for I knew that he was utterly unconscious of having revealed the fact of their talking over me. Then I scored myself for even a momentary irritation. No two people in the world cared more intensely for my welfare than my father and my best friend. I ought to be willing to have them discuss me intermately.

"Now, while I agree with her in this," he went on, and I caught a subtle disapproval of my husband's actions in his phrasing, "yet I also believe that the whole experiment is a dangerous one."

"There's no sentiment in it"

He paused and I put in a tremulous disclaimer.

"Not to me, Father," I said trying to put an assurance in my voice which distinctly was not in my soul. "I do not deny that I admire Philip Veritzens' mentality, and that I enjoy working with him."

"So I have gathered from your conversation since I have been here," my father interposed, and there was a certain dryness in his voice which sent my thoughts racing backward along my own conversation. It was true. I had talked so much of Philip Veritzen and of my work that my father or anyone else would have been justified in assuming that I was unduly interested in the man.

"Oh! can't you see why I talked so much about him?" I cried with the feeling that I must justify myself or never again take any pleasure in my new work. "As you say, I have been associated so long with my own meditations, my work, you—I admit it—this fascinating companionship, have grown almost new life for me. But it has been the same kind of exhilaration which would come to a man at an opportunity to do the work of which he has dreamed all his life and which has been denied him by circumstances. There isn't the slightest bit of sentiment in it."

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I have no time for a hairdresser, none for a Marcel wave. So all that curl and gloss which make my hair so attractive, so abundant, are due to a dressing I apply myself.

Great experts made that dressing especially for me. Now they make it for all of you under my name. It is called Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. All toilet counters supply it at 75c.

Go try it now. Apply it twice a week. My guarantee comes with the bottle. Unless it delights you, unless it doubles the beauty of your hair in an hour, ask for your money back. It will be a revelation.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have.—Adv.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT
REPUBLICAN MEET

the operation of a remarkable installment plan has enabled thousands of families to purchase their own homes.

"He believes in the workmen's compensation law and if elected governor will permit no change in the law unless it be made in the way of improvement. He is a clean-minded, honorable citizen, identified prominently with one of the greatest church organizations in the state and just as he has given the service of his heart and brain to private and public welfare enterprises he will do with the state if he is elected governor. I have known Mr. Cooper many years and this testimonial is a result of that acquaintanceship and my personal knowledge of him and his exceptional qualities."

Vic Under Fire

Governor Donahey's administration was the object of attack in the address of Mr. Taft, who declared that the governor has at all times been without a constructive policy and has done little except make excuses for the things that he has failed to do, seeking to place blame for lack of accomplishment upon obstacles which he claims were placed in his way by the Republican legislature. The speaker charged Donahey with striving to tear down all of the constructive work done by the legislature and with never having offered a single solution or suggestion to aid taking care of important problems that have developed during his term of service.

"When Myers Y. Cooper runs for re-election, he will run on a record of things accomplished and not on excuses for things that he failed to accomplish," Mr. Taft asserted.

Other Speakers

Other speakers were B. J. Shelton, head of the Marion County Republican Central Committee, who opened the meeting as temporary chairman, Fred W. Warner of Marion, chairman of the State Republican Central Committee, James R. Hopley of Bucyrus, nominee for congressman in the Eighth district, who served as permanent chairman, and Robert L. Rohe of Tiffin, candidate for State Senator.

Both state and national issues were discussed by Hopley and Warner, and Mr. Rohe, who has been elected as a member of the state House of Representatives from Seneca County for three terms, spoke briefly regarding legislative enactments during that time. Mr. Rohe is business manager of the Tiffin Tribune and is a former commander of Tiffin Post of the American Legion.

The meeting was scheduled to start at 7:30 but was delayed by the late arrival of the two main speakers, who motored here from Columbus. The other speakers filled in while the crowd waited for Senator Fess and Mr. Taft.

Fess Speech

The Fess speech, which was the concluding feature of the program, consisted of an interesting review of the Harding and Coolidge administrations, beginning with a picture of the tremendous problems of reconstruction and reorganization faced by President Harding created as a result of the World War. Although the entire discourse was an argument tending to show that the achievements of the last six years have been a result of the functioning of Republican policies, and to impress upon voters the necessity of electing legislators who will support the present administration, the speaker at no time made personal reference to Democratic candidates, choosing to base his remarks solely upon the merits of the two Republican administrations.

Senator Fess called attention to the fact that the national debt was 26 times larger than it had been before the war, and that the American people were staggering under the greatest tax burden ever placed on any nation when Mr. Harding took charge of affairs as president. He related how the new president immediately entered upon the stupendous undertaking of starting affairs back toward normal by taking immediate steps toward reducing the cost of government as the first move for lower taxes. This was accomplished at the outset by a decrease in the size of the army and later by assembling the disarmament conference which ultimately resulted in a smaller navy.

Debt Reduction

How this work of expense and tax reduction was continued until three bills passed during the Harding and Coolidge administrations have cut a total of $1,787,000,000 from the people's federal tax bills, and interest on the national debt has been lowered from one and an eighth billion dollars to $800,000,000 annually, was outlined by the senator.

Adding to the seriousness of the complicated situation faced by President Harding at the beginning of his term was a pronounced depression in business and industry, which was due, Senator Fess said, to a $7,000,000,000 unfunded debt being carried by the banks of the country and to the operation of the Underwood tariff bill, passed during the Wilson administration. As a consequence of this situation, five million jobless men were roaming the streets and soup kitchens were feeding the destitute in many communities.

To find a way out of this stringency, Senator Fess related, President Harding called upon Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who solved the problem by marketing the $7,000,000,000 of unfunded securities among the people of the country, thus relieving the strain on the credit resources of the banks and enabling them to make loans to industrial and commercial interests.

Blames Tariff Bill

Most of the blame for the era of depression following the war Senator Fess places upon the Underwood tariff bill, enacted in 1913.

"Whenever any law looks to employment of European labor instead of American labor it can do nothing else but contribute to American depression," the senator said. He stated that business in this country was paralyzed within nine months after the Underwood tariff schedule went into effect in 1913. Then when the World War started in 1914, Europe ceased to produce and immediately was in the market for American goods, ready to purchase at any prices we might see fit to charge.

"Our Democratic friends sought to show that this prosperity was a result of their tariff system but they didn't mean what they said," Mr. Fess declared. "None of us, either Democrats or Republicans, are going to boast of wartime prosperity."

The only remedy was to replace free trade with a protective tariff and this was done in adoption of the Fordney bill in 1922, the senator said.

The nation's present prosperity which Mr. Fess pictured as the greatest in history, and as prosperity which is distributed as it has never been before, is due chiefly to the protective tariff and the policy of economy and efficiency in government financing adopted under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, he said.

Agriculture Basis

Agriculture is the one branch of the nation's business structure which does not appear to have benefited from the prosperity wave, Mr. Fess stated. Agriculture was one of the first to feel the hurt of war and is one of the last to recover. The solution, the senator believes, can come only through organization among the farmers.

"Prosperity can not be brought to farming or any other industry or business through the enactment of laws," he declared. "The proposal to fix prices is nonsense. The best thought must be used in the conduct of any business and none can afford to depend upon legislation to solve its problems."

Robert A. Taft, son of former President Taft, introduced to Wednesday night's audience as one of the outstanding members of the Ohio legislature and an expert on taxation, said that the issue in the state campaign is the question of what Vic Donahey has done and has not done during his four years as governor.

Taft Hits Donahey

"He is a past master in making excuses for not doing things," Mr. Taft said. He designated the management of the public welfare and highway departments and the handling of finances as the chief activities of the state government and declared that Governor Donahey has failed to render satisfactory service in all of these branches.

"Harding and Coolidge have shown what can be accomplished through combining economy and efficiency in government and the same policy could be applied to state affairs," the speaker declared. "Donahey has done absolutely nothing along that line. When he went in as governor there was a $24,000,000 surplus in the treasury and the state is now operating on borrowed money with a $5,000,000 deficit in sight for next year."

"This has not been due to insufficient tax revenue but to steadily increasing expenses. That can not be disputed. He tries to lay the blame on the legislature when the fact of the matter is that 75 per cent of state government activities are under the control of the governor, who has power to regulate expenses as he wills."

"The governor has never taken a single step to combine departments or adopt other means of cutting expenses. He has been warned for months by the auditor and treasurer that unless there is retrenchment the state must face an increase in taxes or non-payment of its obligations."

Lauds Cooper

The record of success achieved by Myers Y. Cooper in the handling of important business enterprises was given as evidence of his fitness to conduct the state's affairs on the same standard of efficiency. Mr. Taft described him as an outstanding citizen of Cincinnati who has accomplished much for that city and who is able, fearless and honest in all of his undertakings.

"Myers Y. Cooper will secure the same economies in state government that have been brought about in the nation's affairs," Mr. Taft declared.

The speaker criticized Governor Donahey for his veto of the gasoline tax and for going before the people of Ohio afterward and claiming credit for road building made possible by revenue obtained from the tax.

"The real problem in the highway department is how to get money for road building," Mr. Taft said. "Governor Donahey has never worked out or suggested a single idea in that connection. Mr. Cooper has drawn up and made public a constructive program which he will advocate if elected governor."

Welfare Work Under Fire

Management of the welfare department during the Donahey administration came under fire, as did the governor's attitude on tax legislation.

"The legislature has tried to settle tax problems and stop the accumulation of public debt and has met with continual opposition from Donahey, who has vetoed bills but invariably failed to offer substitutes," the speaker declared. "The governor has declared that the controversy over the utilities commission is the only issue before the people of Ohio this fall. He pretends that had the legislature approved his appointments to the commission he would have lowered utility rates for the people. I am convinced that the senate made a mistake in not approving the appointments, for then the governor would be without any grounds for argument. There would have been no reduction of rates excepting those which might be made by any other board. As far as the utilities commission is concerned, however, the governor has authority to discharge the members at any time but he does not want to exercise that authority and thus deprive himself of a way to avoid discussion of the real issues of the campaign. He is using the utilities commission only in an attempt to divert attention from his own acts."

"If the people of Ohio wish to continue the policy of the state government doing nothing they should continue the Donahey regime, but if they want something done they will say that four years is enough."

Band Concert

The rally Wednesday night was preceded by a band concert on the street and in the auditorium.

Following the meeting, Mr. Taft returned to his home in Cincinnati, and Senator Fess went to Springfield, where he and Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce in the Coolidge cabinet, will speak tonight. The senator will address a meeting in Mt. Gilead, Friday night, and one in East Liverpool Saturday. Mr. Taft is on the program for a rally at Ironton, Saturday night.

The following statement, outlinging Mr. Cooper's attitude toward labor was issued here prior to the Republican rally at the Star Auditorium by Senator Fess.

"Myers Y. Cooper has for 25 years been an employer of labor. The record of his relations with those whom he has employed merits the commendation of employed and employer alike. Fair wage, fair treatment, fair consideration, and a consistent interest in the welfare and well-being of laboring men, makes a record for Mr. Cooper that is almost without parallel in the state of Ohio. In 25 years of intimate and close relation, wherein the organized trades have been the mediums through which his personal endeavors were accomplished, no strike, no lockout, no wage dispute, and no disagreement of any kind has been the cause of difference between Myers Coopr and the men and women by him employed.

Proved Regard

"Myers Cooper has proved his interest and regard for labor by his constructive work in its behalf. One-third of the men employed by him are the owners of their own homes, through his consideration and cooperation. Thousands of workers have been the beneficiaries of the plan originated by him of home purchase on the rental payment plan. His constructive genius in this respect has been the model whereby thousands of laboring men throughout the entire nation have been enabled to acquire homes for themselves, their wives and their children.

"Myers Cooper was born and reared on a farm. The youngest of 11 children, he knows what hard work means. No man has followed Myers Cooper's career from poor boy to successful homebuilder but that admires the courage and hard personal labor that made for his success, and he has never forgotten or overlooked the interest of the man who labors.

Favors Workman's Act

"As governor of Ohio, he has already declared himself as whole-heartedly in favor of the Workmen's Compensation Act, to which his various enterprises have been heavy contributors from year to year. If there is any change in this progressive and humanitarian system under his administration, it would be to strengthen the act, rather than to weaken it.

"Mr. Cooper has had the endorsement of labor organizations and leading labor journals in the state of Ohio, not simply on the assurance of what he will do as governor, but what he has already done in a practical way for the wage earners of his home community, employed by him.

"A vote for Myers Y. Cooper is a vote for a friend of labor."

AUTO WITHOUT CLUTCH OR GEAR

M. Constantinesco and His gearless motor.

Paris, Oct. 21—Future automobiles may be without either clutch or gears, judging by the sensation created at the 20th annual automobile show in Paris by a tiny five-passenger, two-cylinders, two-cycle motor. The newest thing in motors is the invention of M. Constantinesco, French automobile designer.

All that is necessary to put the new-style car in action is to press the starter and "step on" the accelerator, the connection between the motor and the wheels being made gradually through a system of governors actuated by centrifugal force, after the manner of those used on steam engines.

The motor uses five litres of gasoline per hundred kilometers and has a maximum speed of 60 kilometers an hour.

REDISTRICTING PLANS FOR CITY AGAIN CHANGED

New Arrangement of Wards Is Being Considered as Newest Development

...r a plan of redistricting the city ... six wards entirely different from ... submitted to members of Coun... at their meeting last week is now ... consideration and may be adopt... is the latest development in dis... of the project, which is sched... for definite action within the next ... weeks.

Under this most recent proposal, it ... stated by officials, the present First ... Second Wards, located north of ...enter-st with Main-st as the dividing ..., would remain unchanged. The two new wards would be created by dividing the Third and Fourth, located south of Center-st.

Most Feasible, Claim

Advocates of the plan, which has been endorsed by at least three members of council, according to reports, say that it is the most feasible for several reasons. It is pointed out in the first place that most of the growth of the city's population is in the Third and Fourth Wards and that there is every indication that community expansion will continue to center in those localities for years to come. Increase in population in the First and Second Wards is slight in comparison with the territory south of Center-st, these officials assert.

Because of this situation, it is believed that leaving the First and Second Wards as they now stand and dividing the Third and Fourth would result in a fairly well balanced apportionment of the voting population and in addition would make the best provision for future increases.

Another Advantage

Another advantage of the new proposal, it is claimed, would result from greatly simplifying the task of the Board of Elections in rearranging the voting precincts and also from reducing the cost of the undertaking. The law provides that when new precincts are created, official notices much be published and hearings held to give voters an opportunity to register their views and complaints.

These complications would be greatly minimized by adoption of this latest redistricting proposal, its proponents say. No changes in the First and Second Ward precincts would be necessary and comparatively few in the territory south of Center-st.

Precinct Arrangement

The arrangement of precincts throughout the city would have to be almost completely revised under the provisions of the two proposals originally submitted to council, it is claimed. One of these plans provides for six wards with parallel division lines extending between the north and south corporation lines and the other outlines rectangular wards somewhat similar to the present four but changes practically all of the present boundaries.

Regardless what plan may eventually be adopted, the board of elections will face long and complicated proceedings in establishing new precincts and as a consequence early action by council is regarded as imperative. All details and legal formalities must be attended to before the August primary of next year when nominations are to be made for the election of two additional councilmen to represent the new wards.

The redistricting is required under provisions of the state law which fixes the number of wards and councilmen in proportion to population, the last census showing that Marion has reached the six ward class.

MARION MAN NAMED ON STATE PHARMACY BOARD

William J. Macnab, Head of Oakland Drug Co., Is Honored

William J. Macnab, 533 Delaware-av, proprietor of the Oakland Drug Co., was today appointed one of a committee on trade interests of the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association by Otto E. Kistner, of Cincinnati, state president. Thomas Hewitt of Youngstown and J. W. Darr of Girard, were also appointed members of this committee.

The Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association is urging the enactment of a drug store ownership law for Ohio. The proposed law would require that drug store owners as well as those taking the pharmacy examination be bonafide citizens. The law would not effect the present owners of pharmacies. A number of other committees were appointed at this meeting, including pharmaceutical education, pharmacopeias, national legislation, state legislation, publications and papers and queries committees. The committees were appointed largely in the interests of the proposed law.

SALUTE OF 11 GUNS TO OPEN ARMISTICE DAY

Gun Crew of Howitzer Company Will Have Charge of Demonstration

Firing of a salute of 11 guns at 11 o'clock Armistice Day, Nov. 11, will herald the formal opening of celebration of the event being planned by Bird-McClaine Post, No. 180, of the American Legion, according to an announcement made today by J. W. Llewellyn, chairman of the Legion committee in charge of arrangements.

The salute will be fired on the grounds of the Central Junior High School at Center and Oak-sts by a gun crew from Howitzer Company of the 166th Infantry, Ohio National Guard and will be preceded by brief ceremonies in which Legion officers, Mayor Earl M. Hagen and officials of the police and fire departments will participate. The gun crew will be under the command of Captain Carl P. Ebert of Howitzer Company.

This feature of the Armistice Day celebration, which is being planned as a patriotic event to which all citizens have been invited to take part, has been arranged since completion of the original program. Other details will be announced as announced.

Grade Exercises

Immediately following the salute, special exercises in the Junior High School, as well as exercises will start in the various grade schools with reading of a code of instructions on the significance of Armistice day and addresses of the American soldiers in the World war. The code has been prepared by G. V. Paschall, local World War veteran and past commander of Bird-McClaine Post of the American Legion.

The celebration will close in the evening with a parade followed by patriotic ceremonies and a community dance in the Star auditorium.

Arrangements for the program were discussed at a conference of committees from Bird-McClaine Post and the Legion Auxiliary, Monday evening, and final details will be planned next week at a meeting to be attended by representatives of these two organizations and the various lodges and other societies which have been invited to take part in the celebration.

LOANS up to $500

Jim made up his mind the day he was fired to go into business, to open a shop of his own and make more money for himself. He didn't have much money and he was too proud and too wise to borrow from friends or relatives. He did have, though, the same kind of security you have, and found he could borrow on it at The City Loan. Today Jim says: "Thanks to the fellow who fired me and to The City Loan, I am now on Easy Street."

Jim's business is just one husky enterprise that has been started with money borrowed from The City Loan.

Man Wants To Eat Gas Stops Him

"I had gas bloating and was always in misery after eating. I tried all kinds of remedies, but got no relief. After taking Adlerika, I was much better, and now I can enjoy a good meal again."—W. Taylor

Adlerika gives the system a REAL cleansing and brings out old poisons which may have caused trouble for a long time. Unlike most medicines, it acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling so that you can eat better and sleep better. Even if bowels move daily, Adlerika brings out much additional poison which you never though was in your system and which caused sour, gassy stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache. No matter what you have tried for your stomach and bowels, Adlerika will surprise you. At leading druggists. Bradley's Drug Store and other druggists.—Adv.

"CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS, STOMACH, HEADACHE, COLDS

Clean your liver and constipated bowels to-night and feel fine

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage-way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing too.—Adv.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT VETERAN FIREMAN STARTS ON PAGE 1.

40 Minute Men

In Thurston's earlier years as a member of the department, the fire fighting force had an auxiliary corps of 40 minute men who were paid in proportion to the number of calls answered. Most of these men were on duty at two auxiliary stations, one located at the Huber Co. plant and the other at the factory of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., which were equipped with hand-drawn hose carts.

With the development of the present fire department to point where it is sufficiently large to protect the city without volunteer aid, the services of the minute men have gradually been dispensed with. The old Huber and Marion Steam Shovel carts are out of commission and only three minute men remain on the roll kept by Chief McFarland. These three are Charles Click, Louis Uhl and George Cooper, none of whom, however, is often called upon to assist in fire fighting, their names being kept on the roll chiefly as a mark of honor and distinction.

Under Two Chiefs

Thurston has served under two fire chiefs, Thomas J. McFarland, the present head of the department, having succeeded James A. Knapp in that capacity in 1903.

Use of horse-drawn trucks in the local department came to an end 10 years ago, when the equipment was completely motorized, bringing Thurston's 15 years of service as driver to a close. As the fire fighting organization expanded and new stations were added, the veteran driver was offered a captaincy on several occasions but declined the appointment, preferring to remain in the ranks. He now fills the position of tillerman in operation of the aerial truck.

Two Horses Alive

About a dozen different horses were in the service of the local department during the 15 years that Thurston was on duty as driver. All were magnificent animals of exceptional speed and power of endurance and thoroughly trained in fire department routine. All of them with the possible exception of the two that were last in service, are dead. The team that may be living are the ones known as Teddy and Ned, which were on duty when installation of motor trucks resulted in their retirement. Teddy and Ned were sold to George Jacobs, a farmer living near Green Camp, in 1916, who later sold them to a farmer in the southern part of the county, where they were in service when last heard from about two years ago.

First Year's Service

There were 54 fires in the city during the first year of Thurston's service. This annual total has increased steadily until in 1925 the three local departments answered 197 calls. A summary of the 25-year record shows that there were 3,095 calls during that period and as Thurston was on 24-hour duty during most of the time it is estimated that he responded to somewhere near 3,000 of the alarms.

Marion firemen were kept on continuous duty, day and night, until about five years ago, when the double platoon system went into effect, placing the men on 12-hour shifts. Later this was changed to enable them to be on duty 24 hours, and off 24, that plan now being in effect.

Three Big Fires

While Thurston has assisted in fighting numerous large fires during his 25 years in the department, three stand out with especial prominence in the record. These are the fire which virtually wiped out the Uhler & Phillips store at its former location on W. Center-st, in 1908, the one which swept the Kling & Wilson Hardware and Lewis Grocery stores on N. Main-st the same year, and the one which virtually destroyed the Grand Opera House on S. State-st in 1910.

Fire protection facilities have greatly improved since the day when Thurston first went on duty in the Marion department and motor driven trucks are much more effective than those which once roared through the streets behind the speedy and picturesque steeds driven by him, but there was much in the spectacle of a fire run in those days which is lacking in the modern scene. This is the opinion unhesitatingly expressed not only by citizens who can recall the days of the fire horses, but by such veteran firemen as Thurston, "Deacon" Uline, Edward Fetter, George Kelly, Chief McFarland and others whose terms of service include both the period when horses were used and these later years which have developed the present high type of motor vehicles.

Agree on Progress

But while Thurston and those who have been his associates in the fire service for years like to recall the days when the sound of the alarm brought the horses from their stalls ready to flash over the streets to the scene of the duty, they agree that the changes wrought in fire department service and equipment have been a part of the march of progress and that the old time vehicles would fall considerably short of modern needs. They take pride in the fact that the Marion Fire Department of today, with its thorough efficiency and latest type of equipment, is classed as equal to any other in the country in communities of this size, the same as it was ranked when horses were used.

63 Years Old

Charles N. Thurston is 63 years old, but has the appearance of being at least 13 below that mark. While he will be eligible to a pension not long after the proposed pension system goes into effect here next year, he will accept retirement reluctantly, for he enjoys being in the service in which he has figured so capably during the last quarter of a century and feels thoroughly fit for staying in the harness indefinitely.

Thurston and his wife reside at 239 S. Grand-av. They have two daughters, Mrs. H. S. Elliott, of Calvin, Okla., and Miss Irene Thurston, a teacher in the public schools at Euclid, a suburb of Cleveland.

"POSITIVE AGITATION"

FIRST the spray of leaves, then the besom, then the broom, then the vacuum cleaner. So has the hardest phase of woman's household work been carried steadily onward into higher and easier spheres.

Now still another development appears—startling, revolutionary—the cleaning principle called "Positive Agitation."

Perfected in The New Hoover, it lifts home cleaning to yet new levels of ease and certainty—registering perhaps a greater advance than anything that has gone before.

If you have not seen The New Hoover you have a treat in store. It is unlike anything else. New, original, spectacular, it surpasses even the standard-design Hoover in such important particulars as these:

1 For the first time, it makes possible "Positive Agitation" of floor coverings.

2 By actual test, in the ordinary cleaning time, it beats out and sweeps up from carpetings an average of 131% more dirt.

3 It is an even greater rug-saver; the oftener a rug is cleaned with a Hoover the longer that carpet will wear.

4 It is virtually service-proof, every part, including the new motor, requiring no oiling.

5 It increases the efficiency of its remarkable dusting tools because of its 50% stronger suction.

6 Its exclusive dust- and germ-proof bag is now washable.

7 Its form and finish are of startling beauty; and every new feature insures greater operating ease.

You owe it to yourself to see and understand this New Hoover, now being exhibited by us. Come in today or phone us and we'll bring one to your home for a free demonstration. No obligation. Only $6.25 down, complete.

SOUND, RESTFUL SLEEP MAKES WOMAN STRONG AND HEALTHY

Tepee Herb Tonic Went Right to the Root of Mrs. Paul's Troubles; Quieted Her Nerves.

Woe to the persons who cannot sleep soundly; their nerves become all unstrung; they look haggard and worn; they feel tired, even though they have not done any work; they are just "all in."

Good, sound, restful, refreshing sleep is the best medicine in old Doctor Nature's medicine chest and Tepee Herb Tonic, made from roots, barks and plants, is the best medicine to make you sleep well. There are no narcotics or harmful ingredients used in making Tepee Herb Tonic. It acts more like a nerve food than a nerve tonic.

Mrs. Emma Paul, 3453 W. 46th street, Cleveland, has been unable to sleep soundly for four years. "The result was that I would wake up in the morning with a headache," she says. "I felt tired and worn out—exhausted.

"My stomach became sore and upset. I had spells of indigestion. I bloated after eating until I could hardly get my breath. Nothing tasted right.

"Then about seven months ago a growth started in my gall bladder. I had to undergo an operation. After the operation my stomach and nerves didn't get any better.

"I kept right on getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged about my health that I was just about ready to give up. Several weeks ago I read about Tepee Herb Tonic and tried it. After I had taken one bottle I felt so much better that I went and got another.

MRS. EMMA PAUL

"I have now taken five bottles and my stomach and nerves were never better. I have a good appetite and enjoy my meals. I do not have indigestion, gas and bloating.

"I sleep like a tired girl. My head is clear in the morning—no more headaches. I am not constipated as I was before.

"I have gained five pounds since I took my first dose of Tepee Herb Tonic."

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley's, Henney & Cooper's, Wm. M. Stump's, Bartlett's and all drug stores; Richwood, H. D. Kyle.—Adv.

CHINESE STUDENT HAS PLAN FOR MEASUREMENT

Youth Now at University of California Finds Distance to Stars

Los Angeles, Oct. 21—A new sensational method for determining the distance of the stars has been perfected by Ching Sung-yu, Chinese student at the University of California.

His work is a development of a discovery made by Doctors Adams and Kohlschutter of Mount Wilson Observatory, that spectral analysis could be determined both the absolute brightness and distance of stars.

The Chinese student's discovery differs from Dr. Adams' in that whereas the latter's method depended on lines appearing within the spectrum of the stars, his method depends on a study of the background in the ultra-violet region.

Both methods determine the absolute brightness of the star by means of the spectrum, and by comparing them with the apparent brightness compute the distance.

These methods, in addition to being more accurate than the troublesome, old-fashioned triangulation method, are able to measure the more distant stars and present results in a shorter time.

Observations in the old method were taken over a period of a year or more.

MRS ETHEL RICE PAYS FINE AND IS RELEASED

Mrs. Ethel Rice, 39, of 1048 Uncapher-av, arrested at her home Tuesday night on a charge of illegal possession of liquor and fined $150 by Mayor Earl M. Hazen following her plea of guilty, paid the fine late Wednesday afternoon and was released. She had been held in the county jail since her arrest. Officers visited the Rice home and took Mrs. Rice into custody after a neighbor had filed an affidavit charging that liquor had been served to a party of guests. The officers reported finding a quantity of alleged whisky on the premises.

MOTORCYCLE PARTIALLY DESTROYED BY BLAZE

Firemen at Department No. 1 were summoned by an alarm sent in from N. Prospect and Farming sts about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when a short circuit in the wiring of a motorcycle ridden by Theodore Williams, 30, of 384 Owens st, caused the machine to burst into flames. By the time the firemen arrived, however, the blaze had been extinguished by a Prospect st man who rushed to William's aid with a bucket of water.

Williams escaped uninjured but his motorcycle was badly damaged, the wiring and other parts of the equipment being destroyed.

Although just entering her forty-seventh year, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, Europe's only woman reigning sovereign bids fair to enjoy one of the longest reigns in history, for she became nominal queen at the age of ten, on the death of her father. Counting the Dutch colonies, she reigns over a population of about 60,000,000.

GOOD HEALTH NECESSARY

Many Busy Women Owe Their Health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in great factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

Forming of Dramatic Club is Most Recent Enterprise of Galion's Younger Set

Theatrical Entertainments Have Proven Popular with Community; Mrs. Loren E. Beck To Direct Activities of New Organization; First Play Dec. 2

Galion, Oct. 21—One of the most recent enterprises attempted by Galion young people is that of organizing a dramatic club for the purpose of keeping up their own interests in theatricals and producing for public benefit some well known and worth while plays.

In many instances has it been proven that of all types of entertainment introduced to Galion audiences, the most appreciated and best liked is the play. Whether it be drama, comedy, tragedy or picturesque pantomime a crowd is sure to attend and every attempt made within the last few years has been highly successful.

Seventeen members are already enrolled in the club, all of whom are Alumni of Galion High school and specialized in expression and literature while there.

Mrs. Loren G. Beck, Galion's most accomplished reader and teacher of expression, is directing the activities of the Drama League and will supervise all rehearsals and actual productions. Mrs. Beck is also a former student of G. H. S. and a graduate of Northwestern University and for the past twelve years has directed every class play given in the local schools, a long list of successes.

Play production will not be the only thing stressed as make-up, stage arrangement, scenery building, costume making, lighting effects and play criticism all will be studied. The routine of work will follow closely that outlined for the Little Theatre Movement and in time the club will try to affiliate with the larger organization.

The progress of the society is to be revealed for the first time on December 2nd, when the first play, Philip Barray's "You and I", will be given. Considered by critics to be one of the best of modern dramas, "You and I" was awarded the Harvard prize and is truly of literary merit.

Interest in the work and not personal gain, is the incentive for every member and all money made will be given to charity or turned into the school fund.

Galion schools, business men and the Federation of Women's Clubs are all backing the project and are willing to do anything possible to help the youthful actors to success.

Kenton, Oct. 21—Protest against the increased telephone rates sought by the Kenton Telephone company for its patrons here, effective November 1, has been voted by seven grange organizations in the county, it was stated here today.

The protesting bodies are seven out of a total of thirteen farmer organizations directly effected by the proposed increase.

HIGH STUDENTS INJECT SPIRIT IN GRID TEAM

Many Activities Precede Galion-Shelby Football Game Saturday; Pep Meeting Friday

Galion, Oct. 21—Boosters of Galion High School, evidently believe in the use of psychology as a winning factor in football and have begun "talking up" aturday's tilt with Shelby on every possible occasion. Realizing that after the defeat of last week a change of spirit and a good deal of encouragement is necessary, students are making the most of every chance to inject pep and fight into the football men.

Some unusually energetic fans got busy late last night and at daybreak the sidewalks in the central part of the city were a glare of white paint and letters several feet high proclaimed that Galion's sturdy warriors were out to win the coming game with Shelby. Last year the boys from the tube city succeeded in crossing the G. H. S. goal line a number of times and the teams more evenly matched this season will have a real battle.

A special rally will be held Friday morning to give the students another chance to laud their heroes of gridiron fame. The coach and members of the team will give short talks. It is the last chance of the Orange and Blue to win a good rating in the league race.

MARYSVILLE HI TO MEET UPPER ARLINGTON TEAM

Victory Over Grandview Eleven Gives Union County Outfit Confidence

Marysville, Oct. 21—After handing the strong Grandview football eleven a stinging defeat last Friday at Recreation Park the local gridsters are preparing for their next contest which will be with Upper Arlington, also of Columbus. The latter team defeated Columbus Academy last week by a 33-0 score and this fact has gained a stern hold on the winning courage of the locals.

From reports carried here from Columbus, it is calculated that the power of the Upper Arlington eleven lies mostly in a powerful offense which is said to be stronger than their defense. Coach Kingsmore has been taking steps to prevent overconfidence which is beginning to show itself in a number of the local squad. The line of the local team has been gone over this week to strengthen weak spots and the team in general has been given extra points in preventing tricky plays which are said to be very common with Upper Arlington.

At the rally Friday night, a part of the time will be devoted to an explanation of the principles of the game in an effort to increase attendance.

High school yells and songs will be practiced. They have been mimeographed and each student given a copy, and will be required to know them.

Mansfield and Shelby Lead League

Harding High Watches Six North Central Ohio Clubs Play in Circuit Saturday

Bucyrus Goes to Ashland, Shelby to Galion, While Delaware Invades Red and White Camp at Mansfield To Start Second Half of Schedule
BY CHARLES HARRISON

HARDING HIGH'S football team is content to rest this week while six other North Central Ohio League elevens battle to better their positions in the league standing.

Defeated by Ga[illegible]-0, and Ashland, 20-7, Coach Sp[illegible] Red and Black Tigers are tied with Delaware for the league's cellar position. Delaware tied Ashland, lost to Bucyrus, 13-0, and was defeated at Shelby last Saturday, 26-0, by Coach Paul Curry's squad which is making a strong fight for the league leadership. In reality Delaware, with one scoreless game with Ashland, appears better than Harding. But figures show that Harding has some advantage by having more league games remaining on its schedule. They are big games, too.

One week from Saturday Harding goes to Bucyrus. The following Saturday, Nov. 6, Harding will meet Mansfield, the present league leaders. Shelby's fast and winning eleven comes here Nov. 13, for Harding's final league game—then it will all be over. Harding, as customary, has no game scheduled for Thanksgiving Day.

N. C. O. LEAGUE STANDING

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Mansfield	2	0	1.000
Shelby	1	0	1.000
Galion	2	1	.600
Bucyrus	1	1	.500
Ashland	1	1	.500
Harding	0	2	.000
Delaware	0	2	.000

GAMES SATURDAY

Harding (no game scheduled).
Bucyrus at Ashland.
Shelby at Galion.
Delaware at Mansfield.

The standing was not indicate much unless some of the scores are considered.

Mansfield Leads

With two victories for the same number of games played Mansfield appears strong. Possibly the strongest team the Red and White has met to date is Bucyrus which is tied with Ashland for third position. Mansfield went to Bucyrus and scored 13 points while the latter had to hurry to get 7. That victory followed Mansfield's 2-0 defeat by Columbus North in the very first game on Mansfield's new stadium. Galion was the next victim at Mansfield and lost by a score of 22 to 0. That score tells more than the Bucyrus results if scores of the Galion-Ashland and Galion-Marion games are to be considered.

Delaware is scheduled to play at Mansfield Saturday and it appears very much like another Red and White victory for Coach J. Russell Murphy.

Shelby Meets Galion

Results of the Shelby game at Galion will foretell whether or not the northern Richland County Curry camp will remain in the league race.

Shelby will have to win to remain tied with Mansfield, that is of course, again predicting a victory for Mansfield, and in addition to that Coach Curry's eleven will have to clear the way for Bucyrus and Ashland, the teams tied for third position.

Shelby's chances are good. After losing to Alumni, 6 to 0, the very first game, Shelby went to Oberlin and got a 6 to 0 decision. Resting one week, Shelby walloped Crestline 60 to 0 in a fast non-league game at Shelby. That is the way Coach Curry's men have been scoring since. Delaware was flattened 26 to 0 in Shelby's first league game last Saturday at Shelby.

Bucyrus Working

Bucyrus with one league victory and one defeat is working hard for their next league Saturday at Ashland. Bucyrus will be here one week from Saturday. The Bucyrus-Harding game will also tell a story regarding Marion's finish in the league race this year.

Bucyrus was defeated at Mansfield 7 to 10 and then turned in a 13 to 0 victory two weeks ago at Delaware. Delaware seems to be a stepping stone again this year.

And, the same is true regarding Saturday's battle with Ashland at Bucyrus. Ashland will be fighting to break into second position or to remain in third. Coach Harry Barnhart's squad of 75 men boasts one 20 to 7 league victory from Harding here last Saturday and also has a 6 to 0 defeat from Galion to think about. Ashland is at a place where they can make things good for itself or bad for others.

Delaware with the defeats 13 to 0 by Bucyrus, and 26 to 0 by Shelby and one scoreless game with Ashland is doing its best preparing to show the league leaders how it's done in the college town Saturday at Mansfield.

Correct the Cause to End Catarrh!

Doctors say that local applications aren't enough. To get rid of catarrh you must remove the cause. Catarrh is the result of inflamed mucous membranes—the delicate linings of nose, throat and head. These must be toned and strengthened and the inflammation reduced. Then catarrh disappears; bad breath and catarrhal deafness vanish. This is what Hall's Catarrh Medicine does. Its success has been proved by thousands.

Get Hall's Catarrh Medicine at your nearest druggist. He will tell you it is the most effective catarrh treatment he has known in over 40 years. If he is out of it send 50c to F. J. Cheney & Company, Toledo, Ohio.

Rifle Club Organizes for Busy Season and Annual Drive for New Members

Annual Election of Officers To Be Held Tuesday Night at Local Range, Where Schedule Will Be Announced, with Plans To Enroll 50 Men

MARION Rifle Club members, affiliated with the Ohio Rifle League, are planning a busy season this year.

Shooting will be held semi-weekly at the range in the basement of the Eagles' building, W. Center-st, starting next week.

Schedule for intercity contests will be announced following the annual election of officers Tuesday night at a business meeting to be held at the range, according to announcement today by President Dr. E. W. Imbody.

"We are planning to increase our membership this season from 20 to 50 members," says Secretary Lewis Brady who has been more or less responsible for the gratifying success of the local organization.

"We urge all members to bring a friend to the first regular meeting this year," concluded Secretary Brady.

Rifle Club activities here this season are starting a little later than usual due to the fact that the local club is not scheduling matches in the Ohio Rifle League. Last year local members were handicapped by a small membership. Strong competition was offered by the older and larger clubs and consequently some interest was lost by local clubmen. With additional members this season its expected that activities at the local club will be on the increase.

The American Expressmen jumped from the cellar position into a tie with the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Electric Company's team for seventh place in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial League standing Wednesday night as a result of taking three games from the Hocking Valley-Pennsylvania railroad bowlers, while Anthonys were cleaning the Y-Indus boys for two games.

The Expressmen scored their shut-out by taking the three games by margins of 78, 142, and 171 which allowed them a 391 point lead in the grand totals. Wheeler and Foster were high scorers for the winners, Leighty for the losers.

Second Match

The Y-Indus Club was lost in the big Anthony wash tub. They called reserves and were only able to win the first game by 18 pins. Anthony took the second and third by 18 and 160, the latter figure being the margin in the grand totals, for the laundrymen.

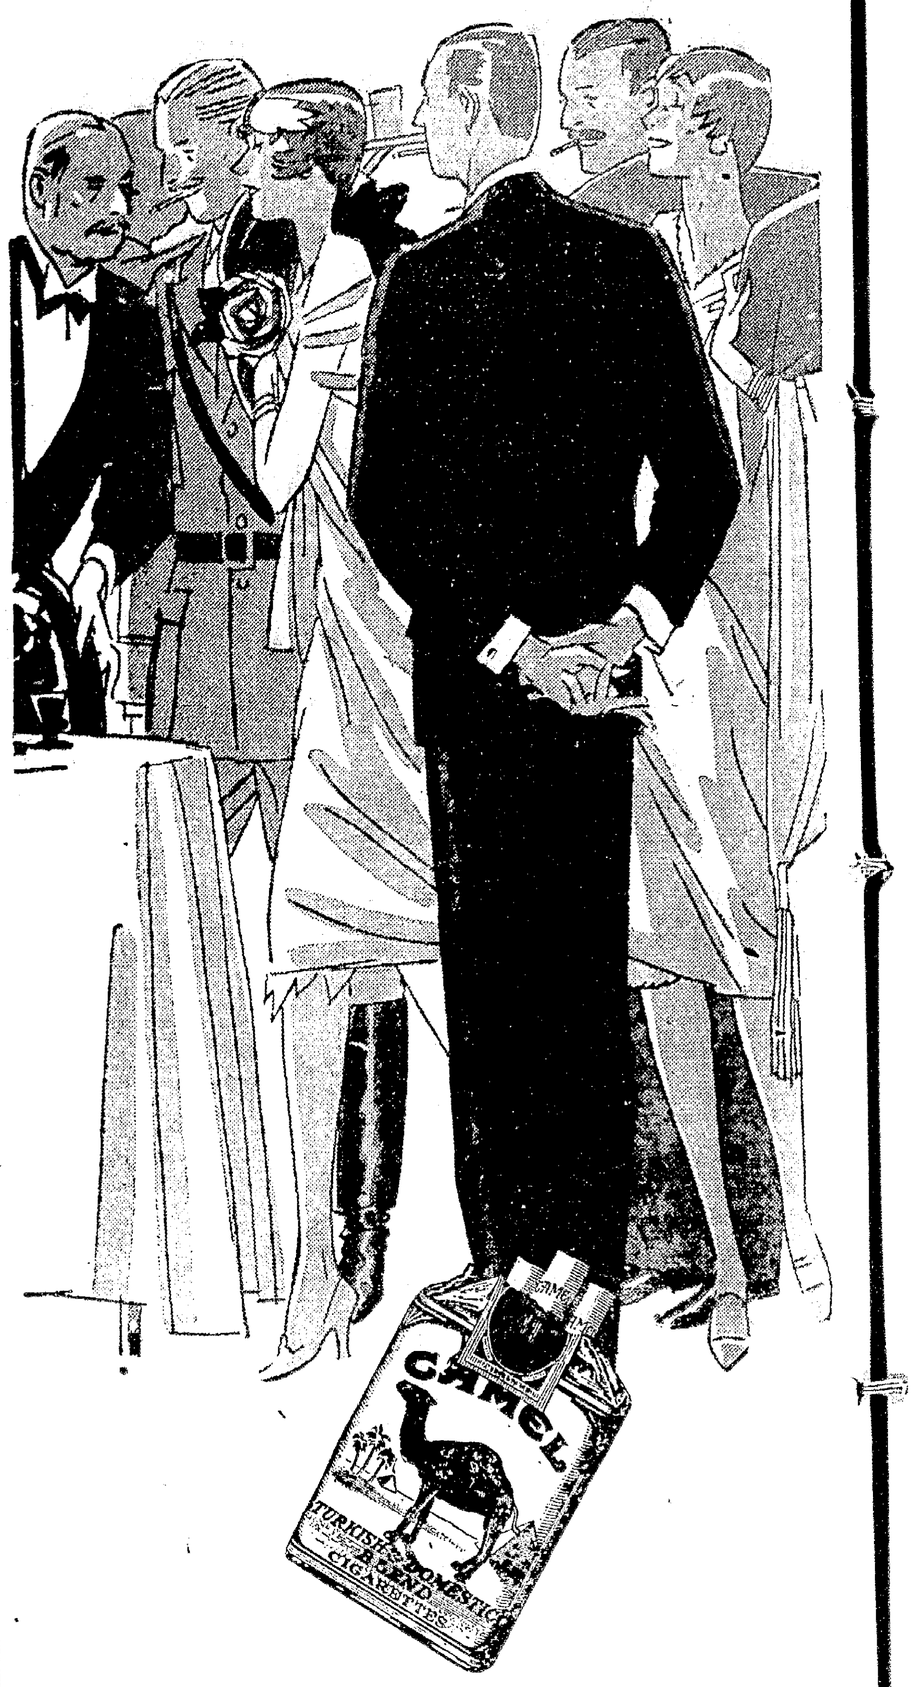
"HAVE A CAMEL"
IS MUSIC
TO YOUR EARS



Camel is totally different from any other smoke. . . . It is more than a cigarette. . . . A lighted Camel is smoking enjoyment realized—the closest thing to the perfection of taste this old earth ever knew.

Camel's popularity has no equal. Camel demand exceeds any other cigarette preference ever known. To say "Camel" is to ask for the world's most popular cigarette. And to light a Camel is to taste the best.

For there's a solid reason back of the fame and the enjoyment of Camels. Quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos money can buy . . . blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

If you would know how mild and mellow a smoke can really be, just treat yourself to a pack of Camels. Once you know what these words mean, they're music . . . "Have a Camel!"

Annual Recreation League Banquet Will be Held for 400 Players Friday, Oct. 29

Officials and Stars Plan To Meet Next Week at Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church To See Four Pennant Winners and City Champions Receive Awards

MARION'S second annual Recreation League banquet will be held Friday night, Oct. 29, at the Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, Olney-av, where trophies will be awarded by league officials.

Team managers received 400 tickets today from Attorney John Clark, president, who with Secretary F. O. Rudolph, is busy making plans for the event which promises to be one of the largest of its kind here this year.

Rev. Alfred W. Swan, pastor and star second baseman of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church Sunday School team, has been procured as toast master. Music and other features are being arranged for by league officials and committeemen.

Before the league organized, 150 recreational ball players attended a banquet held in April at the Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church. Next week's meeting will be attended by nearly three times the number.

The Recreation League championship trophy cup presented local players by A. G. Spaulding Brothers Athletic Co. through their branch at Cleveland, arrived this week and has been properly inscribed for the city's champions.

The city's championship pennant and Spaulding's trophy cup will be awarded the Osgood Company's team which won the Little World's Series held at Lincoln Park early in September.

Pennants have been purchased and will be presented managers of the winning teams in the respective leagues.

Osgoods, city champions, will receive a pennant for winning the Industrial League championship.

Epworth Methodist Episcopal Sunday School team No. 1, winners of the Sunday School League championship, will also receive a pennant.

Railway Service Co., winners of the Transportation League series, are pennant winners.

Commercial League winners, the Y. M. C. A., Business Men's Club, will also be in attendance in a body to receive their felt flag.

Following the program it is expected that officials and team managers will get together for the purpose of discussing next year's recreation ball activities.

PHILLY MANAGER LOSES JOB, TOO

McInnis Is To Succeed Fletcher, Who May Join Boston Braves

Philadelphia, Oct. 21—Arthur Fletcher made known today the fact that he will not manage the Philadelphia National League Club in 1927. Fletcher wired the news to friends, confirming a report that had been in circulation since the close of the 1926 season.

One rumor had it that Dave Bancroft would be permitted to negotiate with the Pittsburgh Pirates as their manager for next season and that, in the event of that deal being closed, Fletcher would take over the management of the Boston Braves. It was said that Hal Rhine and cash would be asked by Boston in payment for Bancroft, in spite of the fact that the latter has been assured that he may manage the Braves if he wishes. It was thought, however, that the close friendship that exists between Bancroft and Judge Emil Fuchs might prevail upon the latter to let Banny go, if he thought he was bettering himself.

Fletcher also is said to be under consideration in Pittsburgh, while Stuffy McInnis, according to gossip has the inside track on the local job. McInnis once was a popular idol here as a member of the old Athletics.

Manager Fletcher is the third to be released since the close of the season, George Sisler having been released by the St. Louis Browns and Bill McKechnie by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

QUIT GETTING UP NIGHTS

A Healthy Bladder Acts During the Day

C. N. Shuman, Republic, Ohio, says: "Before taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) had to get up six or seven times each night. Now I do not get up at all. You may use my name if it would benefit anyone with bladder trouble." Be careful not to take drugs that check the action of the bladder. You may have to continue its use. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) increases the action during the day. It cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels driving out foreign matter, neutralizing excess acids, thereby relieving the irritation which causes "Getting Up Nights." The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Carl G. Ungericht, druggist.- Adv.

SKIN ERUPTIONS YIELD TO SULPHUR

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation begins at once to soothe irritated skin and heal eruptions such as rash, pimples and ring worm.

It seldom fails to remove the torment and disfigurement, and you do not have to wait for relief from embarrassment. Improvement quickly shows. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist.—Adv.

BRITISH HOTELS CHECK BIG TRAFFIC IN LABELS

London, Oct. 21—British hoteliers are adopting an ingenious device to stop the traffic in hotel labels. They are determined to check the vanity of a certain class of traveler.

The idea comes from E. M. Pick, a hotel manager of Zurich. After many years experience he has tired of the man who has his luggage pasted with labels of the most expensive hotels in the world—although he has never stopped in one.

Pick's device is for the leading hotels each to issue its own travel stamps to be issued to the hotel guest at the time his bill is paid. These stamps are about four times the size of the present stamp. They express some feature of the hotel, its wonderful cuisine, orchestra, or some other distinguishing feature.

Artists are now designing interesting and attractive travel labels, and they are to be issued not only by hotels but by airlines, steamships, railroads and even towns. Placed in a sports album they should be an interesting souvenir of travel.

My father said, 'Good gosh woman can't you take a joke?' And my mother said, 'You Can't xxx.' My father could not say anything to that but he saw me grinning and he fetched me a wallop on the head and said for me to not stand there grinning. Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

...cle Wiggily sat in his bathing suit ...bath tub of his hollow stump ...ow. Warm, soapy water filled ...h almost to the brim, and the ...gentleman was pretending the ...soap was a ship on the ocean. ...why do you wear your bathing ...the bath tub?" Mrs. Longears ...ked when she saw him taking it ...the room with him.

...Because I want to believe I am having a bath in the ocean," answered ...Wiggily. "And always in the ...I wear my bathing suit, so now, ...properly pretend, I must wear it ...."

"Oh, very good!" said Mrs. Longears. But Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy only ...ed, switched her long tail from side ...side and squeaked:

"I never heard of such nonsense."

"There are lots of things you never ...rd about, Nurse Jane, my dear!' ...kled Uncle Wiggily. Then he ...ried to make the suds to look like ...n on the ocean.

After a while the bunny rabbit gentleman had his bath and he pulled the ...pper up out of the tub to let the ...n run out. It made a funny, ...ling noise, did the water running ...of the hole where the stopper was ...ed.

"It sounds a little like waves on the ...ch!' laughed Uncle Wiggily.

When the water was low in the tub, ...Longears, who was still sitting ...re, leaned over and looked down the ...e where the stopper had been. Then ...water and suds began to twist about ...e a whirlpool and it made Uncle ...ggily feel a bit dizzy.

"I wonder what would happen," he ...mpered, "if I were sucked down the ...irlpool into the stopper hole? I wonder?" But the thought was so alarming ...at the rabbit did not dwell on it. ...e gave himself a shake and, as the ...st of the water gurgled from the bath ...b he put back the stopper into the ...le and said: "I wouldn't like to fall ...wn there."

Uncle Wiggily was drying himself ...he all of a sudden, in through the ...throom window jumped the Fuzzy ...x. The bad chap had climbed up a ...llar of the front porch to the piazza ...oof, and so got into the bath room.

"What do you want?" cried Uncle ...iggily, holding a big towel in one ...nd. "What do you want?"

"Your ears, of course!" snarled the ...ox. "Why, else, did I take all this ...rouble! I want your ears!"

Uncle Wiggily was very brave. Looking at the bad chap straight in the eyes ...he rabbit asked:

"Have you had your bath?"

"My bath? Certainly not," snarled ...he Fox.

"You can't nibble at my ears until ...ou have a bath,' said the bunny firmly. "Here is the tub. I will draw it ...ll of water for you and here is soap. ...ou must get into the tub and scrub ...ourself properly before you nibble ...."

"Must I?" asked the Fox.

"You must," said Uncle Wiggily firmly. So when the tub was full of water the Fox had to get in. He was hurrying through his bath, most impolitely I think, and was eager to jump out and nibble Uncle Wiggily, when, all of a sudden, the bunny pulled out the bath tub stopper.

Quickly the water began to run down the pipe with a gurgling sound, and then, when the whirlpool started, and the Fox leaned over and saw the twirling hole, he grew frightened, that bad chap did.

"Oh, I'll fall down the water hole!"

"Have you had your bath?"

I'll be sucked into the hole!" howled the bad chap. Then, never stopping to dry himself, out of the window he jumped, grabbing his clothes, and away he ran back to his den.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Mr. Longears as he opened the bath-room door. "It's a good thing I pulled out that stopper." And I think so myself.

And if the jumping jack doesn't take the wheels off the rag doll's flivver to put on his roller skates, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's chalk gun.

INDUSTRIAL STOCKS BRING HIGHER PRICES

Many Well-Known Leaders Stage Encouraging Rally in Today's Session

New York, Oct. 21 Under the momentum of extensive short covering and speculative buying, the leading industrial stocks snapped back to a higher level of prices today. The gradual closing of the short positions of the professionals to bid all the way from 3 to 6 points higher for stocks, and to inaugurate a level of prices which was well maintained through the session by numerous well known stocks.

Stocks of the motor, railroad and specialty companies made the best showing in the local market. The return of Wilson & Company's preferred stock to the dividend column today, somewhat in advance of expectations stimulated good buying of the packing stocks, while stocks of the radio companies in both markets profited from the reports of excellent current business and the higher rate of earnings.

Industrial and trade news of the day was uneventful. Estimates of railroad earnings for September were generally below those of the same period last year, and the current traffic to cuts are somewhat below estimates. Price cuts in gasoline are expected to be followed by a decline in prices of crude oil, confirmation of the latter having been given by some of the prominent oil leaders.

TIFFIN MAN IS NAMED HEAD OF MASONIC BODY

Five Thousand Members Take Part in Temple Cornerstone Laying

Cincinnati, Oct 21—Cincinnati was getting back to normal today as 5,000 out-of-town members of various Masonic orders, here yesterday to participate in the laying of the cornerstone for the new $3,000,000 temple, returned to their homes.

Newly-elected officers of the Ohio Masonic Veteran Association, an order composed of those who have been in the Masonic fraternity for more than 21 years, today assumed their duties following election here last night.

Arthur A Cunningham of Tiffin, was named president.

Other officers elected were:

Frank M Beardsmore, Zanesville, first vice president, Campbell M Vorhees, Columbus, second vice president John R Kuhns, Columbus third vice president, Wesley Joseph Columbus, treasurer, Owen Richmore, Toledo secretary, Isaac Morris, Cleveland chaplain, Theodore I Humphrey Cleveland marshal, Otto H Hogle, Toledo, captain of guards, James B. Ruhl, Cleveland, inner guard and Charles S. Hopkinson, Zanesville outer guard

Winslow, Ark., has come to the front as a woman governed town. The mayor, the recorder, the treasurer, the postmaster and the four aldermen are all women. And the claim is made that it is one of the best governed communities in the state.

Rubber jumpers for the wet weather use of women golfers are among the fashion novelties this Autumn.

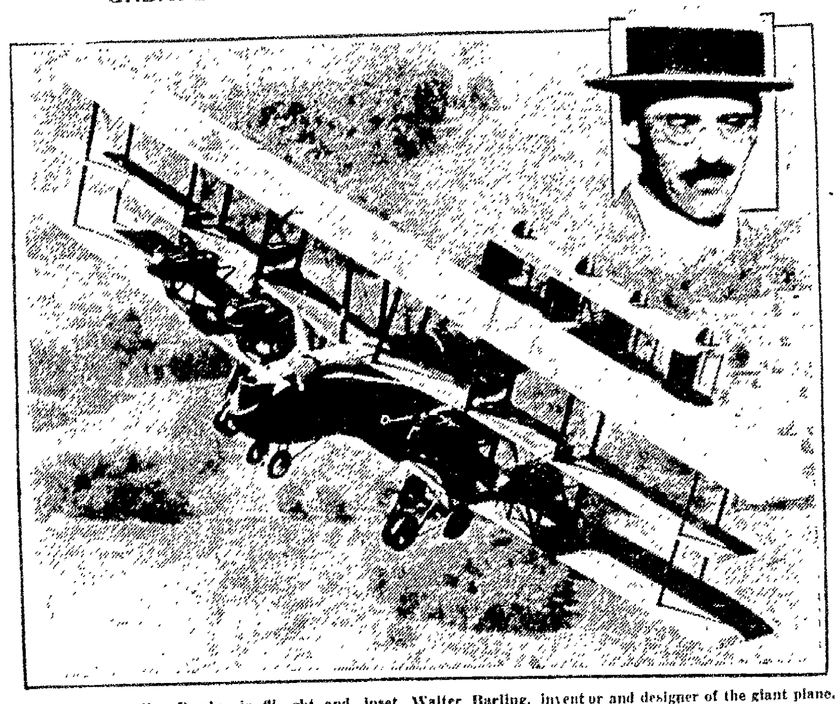
"GREATEST PLANE," UNUSED, DROOPS UNDER RUST



The great Barling Bomber in flight and, inset, Walter Barling, inventor and designer of the giant plane.

DAYTON, O., Oct. 21—A $400,000 giant of the air stands idle in its hangar at Fairfield air depot, near here. Unused for more than a year, the "greatest airplane in the world" is rusting ingloriously away.

At the time of its construction much was said and written of the Barling Bomber, the dream and design of a quiet young Englishman in the employ of the governmental experimental service here. It was a triplane of majestic proportions, motored by four Liberty engines.

It passed its tests perfectly, from Dayton down to St Louis at the time of the Pulitzer races there, made one or two other flights—and then was "forgotten."

Army officers explain that the plane was an experiment and a number of important lessons were learned from it. "We found out what we wanted to know," they say, "and now we're through."

The plane, the largest ever built in this country and one of the few real giants of the air, was conspicuously successful as a flier. After a few demonstrations of its ability, however, it was run into a vacant shed, covered with tarpaulin—and left to wear itself out in disuse.

GRAND PROMISES NEW CONTEST FOR KIDDIES

Hollywood Dollies and Theater To Be Given as First Prize

The Grand Theater has announced a brand new contest for the children in connection with the showing at the theater for the first three days of next week of Reginald Denny's picture, "Take It From Me."

Manager Ed Sharpless has procured from the Hollywood Dollies Sales Co. 100 of the famous Hollywood dollies, each dolly with four complete changes of costume. And also one of the beautiful Hollywood Dollies theaters. The theater is a perfect miniature of a big theater and is made so that it can be set up with full stage and scenery. The theater is in ten colors, and comes equipped with 14-inch stage, back drop and scene wings. The Hollywood Dollies can be used on the stage and real picture scenes enacted. Mr. Sharpless says.

The theater and the dollies will all be given away to Marion children. Those who wish to try to get one of these prizes should watch The Star Friday. There will be a special advertisement with cuts of Reginald Denny in which one will be told all about it. All that is needed is to cut out one of the Denny pictures and finish drawing the body, then dress by coloring or painting. The contest closes Tuesday noon.

All work must be sent to the Grand theater.

The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaiacol, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
